LONDON—"Borrow £10 from your solicitor," the judge advised the defendant, "and go bankrupt."

Before Judge Thomas Elder-Jones was George Rutt, 32, who owes a finance company £850.

Out of work and unable to keep up his payments, Rutt had been taken to court by the finance company.

"These fellows will never let you go, you know," said the judge. "They will bring you up month after month for the rest of your life."

In the case, which was heard Monday, the judge refused to take action against Rutt.

Said Rutt in an interview afterwards: "If the finance company takes any further action, I shall definitely follow the judge's advice."

Earlier this year, Judge Elder-Jones gave a defendant 297 years to pay off an installment plan debt of £357.

To that defendant, the judge said:

"These infernal hire-purchase (finance) companies seem to use me and every county court judge in the country as their handmaidens to collect their debts from some Tom, Dick or Harry who is not worth tuppence."

LONDON—After a night of drinking, Henry Hatt, 26, became sleepy.

Noticing an open door, he entered it, went along a corridor, climbed some stairs, opened a door and flopped down on the floor.

Imagine his surprise when he discovered he was in a police station.

Arraigned in court, he told Magistrate Neil McElligott:

"I drank and drank and then wanted to sleep. I had no idea where I was, but I had no bad intentions."

Dismissing a charge against him of being on the premises for an unlawful purpose, the magistrate said:

"Next time be more careful where you spend the night."

DUNOON, Scotland—Scotland is taking a romantic toll of the young sailors who man the U.S. Polaris base in the Holy Loch.

Officers of the depot ship Proteus, anchored in the sheltered loch near Dunoon, reported today that 100 U.S. sailors have applied for permission to marry Scottish girls.

The Proteus sailed into the Holy Loch slightly more than a year ago with many young bachelors among its crew of more than 1,000.

So far 32 of them have married local girls.

VERONA, Italy—Adriano Poltronieri, 24, was drafted into the Italian army three days after Graziella Filippini, 21, accepted his proposal of marriage.

Every free moment during his 17 months of service, Adriano wrote to his fiancée. In 519 days as a soldier, he sent Graziella 615 letters, each at least nine pages long, and 1,580 postcards.

The girl answered almost every letter and five months ago they were married.

When a mild ailment put Adriano into hospital a few days ago, his wife asked to be placed in hospital, too.

"I want to be near my husband," she told the doctors.

"I have a slight cut on my hand that would prevent me from writing him every day."

Perhaps to keep the hospital postal staff from overwork, the doctors admitted her.

PECOS, Texas—A West Texas bank president disclosed Monday, fertilizer king Billie Sol Estes once tried to corner the parakeet market so he could give former President Eisenhower the bird.

"It was just before Eisenhower was elected the first time, I believe," W. E. Holcombe, president of the Security State Bank at Pecos, recalled. "Estes was going into the parakeet business commercially, and I think he had seven or eight thousand parakeets at one time out at some little town near here."

Estes was irritated with the "I Like Ike" slogan and he told me he was going to have these birds taught to say 'I Like Adlai' or something like that. Then he had plans to release them in big cities like New York and Chicago just before the election."

ARGENTINA FACES TAX BOOST

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentines were told Monday that President Jose Maria Guido's embattled government will go $500,000,000 further into debt this year and must raise taxes still higher to keep afloat.

This bleak prospect was set forth by Finance Minister Guillermo Klein in a report defending the government's recent 50-per-cent increase in electricity rates and increases of 20 per cent in import taxes and gasoline prices.

Klein's report made clear more taxes were imperative to keep up government operations and eliminate deficits.

Further Delay On High-Rise In Esquimalt

Final reading of a rezoning bylaw to allow a high-rise apartment on Dunsmuir Road was put off for one more meeting by Esquimalt council Monday night.

Council passed a motion instructing the building inspector to draw up amendments to municipal building bylaw similar to those in Victoria which require permanent fire prevention equipment in high-rise buildings.

Reeve A. C. Wurtele said fire equipment should include a special elevator and hydrant.

Council also voted to include $4,500 for Esquimalt's Golden Jubilee later in the summer. About $1,000 will be allotted to the publication of a commemorative booklet.

Wealthy Sportsman W. T. Waggoner Dead

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—William T. Waggoner Jr., 57, millionaire sportsman and cattleman, died Monday at his home here.

Heir to a big ranching and oil estate with interests in Texas and New Mexico, Waggoner won national recognition for his ownership of such hydroplane racers as Shanty I and II and Maverick. He had lived in Phoenix 18 years.

ELECTION

"That issue can be one which will be dealt with by the people during the coming election," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

The announcement of the election followed two brief morning conferences between the prime minister and Mr. Pearson before today's Commons sitting.

The prime minister, it is understood, sought to reach an agreement with the Liberal leader. He is believed to have said that he was prepared to disclose the date of the election and announce the day of dissolution if Mr. Pearson would give an undertaking that the official opposition would cooperate in passing an interim supply measure and certain other bills now on the order paper.

Mr. Pearson made no commitments at the first meeting. He left the prime minister's office and went to consult with his supporters. He returned to meet with the prime minister and decisions were made that decided the fate of this parliament.

The 24th Parliament, now in its fifth session, was elected March 31, 1958. At that time voters returned 208 Conservatives, 49 Liberals and eight CCF members. Deaths and byelections have since altered the standings, which now are: Conservative 203, Liberals 51, CCF-New Democratic Party 8, Vacancies 3.

Suspended Terms For Two Seamen

Two young sailors escaped with suspended sentences in Esquimalt police court Monday on a charge of attempting to break and enter the Island Weavers, 800 Esquimalt Road, April 6.

Richard Thompson and Thomas Osborne, both of HMCS Naden, admitted the charge when they first appeared a week ago. Esquimalt police said they had found the youths on the roof of the premises.

Magistrate William Ostler passed the sentence after reading probation reports on them. He noted it was their first offence.

Thompson and Osborne were ordered to post a $500 bond for one year.

Revolution Threatened

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—A group of 75 Mexican military and professional men today threatened to plunge Mexico into revolution in 10 days unless the United Nations hears their complaints against the Adolfo Lopez Mateos regime.

Headed by Marcantonio Diaz-Infante, described as an international lawyer and educator, the group petitioned the UN Security Council and General Assembly for an audience to state their case against the Mexican government.

EX-COMMUNICANTS PLEDGE CONTINUING RACE FIGHT

ROME BACKS ARCHBISHOP

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Three Roman Catholics, ex-communicated for opposing their archbishop's order to desegregate parochial schools, vowed today to continue their battle for separation of the races.

Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel invoked the severe spiritual penalty Monday.

The directive from the 83-year-old prelate, who eight years ago called segregation "morally wrong," expelled Leander H. Perez Sr., longtime political czar of two small parishes adjoining New Orleans; Jackson G. Ricau, an executive of a pro-segregation citizens council; and Mrs. B. J. Galliot Jr., Bible-quoting segregationist who once picketed the archbishop's residence.

The excommunication cuts off the three segregationists from the sacraments of the church. They may attend Mass and confess, but cannot receive communion.

Perez, 71, a fiery lawyer and Louisiana's leading spokesman on segregation, blasted the action as "simply a move to frighten or terrorize the parents of parochial school children" and said it would not work.

Ricau, one-time real estate dealer who is executive secretary of the South Louisiana Citizens' Council, said he considers it "an incredible injustice."

Will continue fight "I intend to continue the fight for racial segregation as I have done in the past, serving God and begging his help and protection."

Mrs. Galliot, 41, mother of two children in Catholic schools, commented: "It is in the writings of the church and in the Bible we must obey God rather than man. The church has definitely made a serious mistake in excommunicating me because of accusations which are false."

The excommunication order said the three had disregarded the archbishop's earlier warning against any action that would "provoke our devoted people to disobedience or rebellion against the church."

The archbishop reserved to himself any appeal. Earlier Magr. Egidio Vagnozzi, apostolic delegate to the United States, indicated he would not pass such appeals on to the Vatican or the Holy Father.

That means the pope never will be officially notified of the action.

Nevertheless, Mrs. Galliot, who heads the small segregationist group, Save Our Nation Incorporated, said she intends to communicate with Pope John by either letter or telegram.

Perez, long at odds with the archbishop on the segregation question, said he had an "unserving responsibility to protect our children against the immoral curse of forced racial integration."

"I am a lifelong Catholic and will continue to be so, regardless of communistic infiltration and the influence of the National Council of Christians and Jews upon our church leaders."

Sentence Tripled

CALGARY (CP)—James Gehring, 27, former Medicine Hat policeman sentenced last February to one year for theft, had his term increased to three years Monday by the appellate division of the Alberta Supreme Court.

Bennett Ends Fiscal Year With $8 Million Surplus

Premier Bennett disclosed today that the B.C. government had a surplus of $5,500,000 more than estimated for the financial year which ended March 31.

Actual surplus at that date was $8,000,000 according to a brief financial statement contained in a pamphlet advertising a new issue of B.C. Hydro bonds.

In his budget for this year, presented to the legislature in February, Mr. Bennett had allowed for a surplus of only $2,500,000 for the fiscal year which ended this March 31.

Usually the true surplus figure is not released until midsummer, when the premier makes an interim report on the public accounts of the province.

However, the bond pamphlet shows that B.C. received $338,000,000 revenue and spent $330,000,000 in 1961-62.

Melita, in southwest Manitoba, was so named by its pioneers after the Mediterranean sea where St. Paul was shipwrecked, the sermon theme at their first church service.

Red China Spurred On By 'Smears, Slander'

By CLARE McDERMOTT
PEKING (Reuters) — The newspaper of the Chinese Communist party said today that the "smears and slanders of our people by United States imperialism can only stimulate our people toward greater unity."

The statement came in a People's Daily editorial commenting on the results of the National People's Congress (parliament) that ended here Monday night. The front-page article called for unity of all nationalities and classes of China's 670,000,000 people.

"Our future," it declared in conclusion, "is boundlessly brilliant."

All Chinese newspapers headlined the press communique issued at the end of the closed-door, three-week meeting, the first congress session since the spring of 1960.

They also published a congress resolution approving a report on government work by Premier Chou En-lai. People's Daily was the only paper to carry editorial comment.

The editorial said that three years of natural calamities had caused "great difficulties" now being overcome.

'MUCH WORK REMAINS'

"For the present, although much hard work remains to be done, generally, the most difficult time has passed, and the economic situation of our country has begun to take a turn for the better."

In going on with the adjustment of the national economy, the editorial said "we should continue to carry out thoroughly the party's various policies . . . so as to improve the commune system and show to the fullest the peasants' productive energies."

Monday's 3,000-word communique contained a congress speech by Premier Chou also saying that thanks to tremendous national efforts in overcoming natural calamities, the economic situation was improving. He issued a "back to the land" call to increase production of food and daily necessities for the nation.

In addition, the premier revived the slogan "let a hundred flowers bloom, let a hundred schools of thought contend" in literature, art and scientific research. This policy encourages different approaches and theories in these fields.

The communique gave no figures for industrial or agricultural production.

The Associated Press in Tokyo quoted a broadcast dispatch from Peking's New China news agency as saying Red China in the resolution announced a 10-point program to deal with its economic ills. The points are:

1. Increased agricultural production effort, primarily in cotton, grain and oil-bearing crops.
2. Rational arrangement of production in light and heavy industry so that increase of daily necessities can be realized.
3. Continued retrenchment in capital construction so that materials, equipment and manpower will be used where most urgently needed.
4. Reduction of city populations and a back-to-the-farms drive to strengthen the agricultural front.
5. A program of stock inventories to adjust allocation of funds and materials among enterprises.
6. Improved methods of purchase and supply of commodities.
7. Energetic efforts in the foreign trade field.
8. Adjustment of cultural, educational, scientific and public health work and research to improve the quality.

CHOU'S DEBACLE SMALL COMFORT

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communist Chinese leadership has openly acknowledged what was generally known: That it jumped too far too fast and fell on its face.

But there is no comfort for the West in this. There is not even a small sign the Communists are weakened or endangered.

In Premier Chou En-lai's report of calamities there is no whine for pity. Instead, it seems clear the Chinese Communists will press the people's noses to the grindstone even harder.

If the West or Russia expected three years of disaster to soften Red China's attitude toward either of them, they guessed wrongly. The Red Chinese still are defiant, still belligerent, still unbending.

Chou in a report to the secret session of the National People's Congress admitted that Red China has suffered both natural calamities and a messed-up economy for the last three years.

The China mainland underwent severe food shortages in recent years and had to import wheat—for instance, from Canada and Australia—but Chou indicated this means the Chinese must work even harder.

The peoples' communes, set up under Chou, Mao Tse-tung and other Red Chinese leaders, have been severely criticized in the West on several grounds:

Hint of Error in Handling Communes

That they demoralized Chinese family life, had reduced the Chinese under the name of communism to a harsher peasantry than they ever had had, and that Mao and his friends had far overextended themselves.

1. There are indications in Chou's report that the leadership thinks it may have made some mistakes in handling the communes. But the report shows no thought of abandoning them, just improving them.

A resolution approved by the congress suggests that there will be some changes in the communes but the emphasis will be on even greater effort to produce food to meet China's needs.

Some concessions may be made to give the masses some of the necessities of living. For example:

The resolution, involving a 10-point program, spoke of rational arrangements of production in light and heavy industry so that an increase of daily necessities can be realized.

Yet, almost immediately afterwards, this same resolution calls for getting a lot of people out of the cities and back to the farms to turn out food.

But there was no sign of even a little change in Red China's foreign policy. Its venom, outlined in Chou's report, was still aimed at the West, particularly against American "imperialism."

"This has been the unvarying Red Chinese theme, repeated through the years, and with increasing pain to the Russians whose Premier Khrushchev tried his new line of "peaceful coexistence."

Anyone who remembers the iron will and discipline of the Red Chinese leaders—between the time Chiang Kai-shek drove them into isolation in China's northwest corner in the 1920s and the time they returned in 1949 to drive him to Formosa—could not realistically have expected any softening just because they ran into some setbacks while trying too hard.

INSPIRATION FOR BUDGET DEBATE

$138 Million Hangs High and Dry

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—Well, here it is April 17 and the Commons hasn't yet approved all federal expenditures for the fiscal year which ended March 31 — 17 days ago.

There's still a tidy sum of $138,416,981 gathered together in a single money bill which remains to get parliamentary approval.

Opposition Leader Pearson seized on this bill just before the House adjourned Monday night to launch a counter-stroke in what he himself has described as the "electoral war of nerves."

By opening a debate on the bill, which under normal circumstances would pass without mention because the expenditures have already been approved piecemeal, Mr. Pearson in effect began a budget debate.

MAY PURSUE BILL

The government needs that $138,416,981 to pay some bills, but it won't get it quickly if the opposition pursues the money bill debate begun by Mr. Pearson.

"It's high time we were told and the country was told what the plans of the government are—if they have any plans," Mr. Pearson said.

The opposition was prepared to open a general debate on the nation's finances because the government had given no indication that there would be a normal debate this session.

The money bill includes sums to cover the CNR's 1961 deficit of $67,307,772; the Trans-Canada Air Lines deficit of $6,450,082; farm price supports of $25,139,333; maintenance of the navy, $3,500,000; and a United

Precedent for Pressure?

IT IS EASY TO UNDERSTAND the short-run reasons for President Kennedy's successful attack on the steel industry, but impossible to foresee the long-run results.

The President had appealed for a moderate wage settlement between the industry and its workers. When such a settlement was accepted, he assumed that the price of steel would not rise. He was determined in any case that it must not rise. For higher steel costs would work their way into much of American industry, worsen the United States' competitive position in domestic and foreign markets and perhaps increase its present alarming loss of gold reserves.

For understandable reasons, therefore, the President was resolved to hold the price of steel at its present level if he could, even at the expense of coercing the industry and infringing the freedom of its owners. Against the pressure of a strong President, undoubtedly with most of the nation behind him, the industry surrendered. The government, in fact, had fixed the price of steel.

Whether it was right in so doing will long be argued. In the economic history of the United States few incidents have been more significant. The steel case is a watershed of the first magnitude.

It implies, if it does not assure, that in the case of industrial giants the state—at least under the present administration—is ready to bypass the free market and force its will on the owners. But is it also prepared to force its will on the workers?

Unless it is, then, of course, every attempt to fix prices by state decree or indirect influence must ultimately fail, wages being the chief component of prices. Hence labor as well as capital is involved in the course of policy now launched almost, as it would seem, by accident.

It is by no means clear, however, that the President has any intention of pushing the logic of his recent steps to any definite conclusion. The political process, in any democratic country, is seldom logical. Rather it would appear that Mr. Kennedy has moved suddenly and courageously to halt what he considered a disaster to the American economy without planning any similar move in other fields of business. Nevertheless, a profound precedent has been laid down and undoubtedly he will be asked to invoke it again if another industrial giant tries to raise prices.

The steel industry may have been wrong in saying that it deserved an increase in price, though its profits have lately been falling. Certainly it was wrong in its tactics because it underestimated both the power and the determination of the President. Hence its defeat.

But the steel industry is unquestionably right in saying that the attempted increase in steel prices was less the cause than the symptom of inflation. When a great industry can raise prices and sell its product in the market place, as the steel industry intended to do, the upward price pressures latent in the economy are clearly revealed.

One price has been curbed by the state's power but that intervention does not reduce the general pressure. It will appear in other forms and other industries so long as the economy is prospering, as it is prospering now and so long as government spending and excessive wage increases build inflation into the system. This is as true of Canada as the United States; true also of Britain and Europe as well.

It took courage and the instant use of all presidential power, written and unwritten, to coerce the steel industry but this case, though large, was relatively simple. Mr. Kennedy was struggling with only a handful of companies and men. In the broader problem of prices throughout the economy he would be dealing with a multitude of separate interests that could not be so easily controlled, could not be controlled at all indeed, without a resort to price fixing. This must mean wage fixing and the sort of over-all state management which the President obviously does not intend to undertake.

In short, the steel case settles one immediate question but leaves many more unanswered. They will be answered in due time by the moderation and good sense, or the lack of them, in American management and labor. This also is true of Canada, a nation which can afford less than its neighbor, any general rise in prices.

"...D'you think it'll be any warmer by June...?"

LOOSE ENDS

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Mrs. Noggins at a 'igh, 'istorical Pitch

AS A VETERAN student of public finance, my neighbor, Mrs. Noggins, warmly approved Mr. Fleming's budget.

"It was a relief," she confessed, "to find that Fleming 'ad got over 'is silly notion of two years ago when 'e promised to balance 'is accounts."

That was 'is only slip and 'e's lived it down with returnin' sanity. That man learns fast. 'Twas only a man of genius as could produce the last glorious deficit. There was nothing wrong with my fingers, says Fleming, but the revenues didn't 'appen to come up to my estimates and I spent a lot more than I intended. It wasn't me as wrecked the budget. It was the fault of the Gross National Product and the necessary expenses of an election year. No, sir, my calculations was exact but the 'gover'mint wouldn't live up to 'em.

Hutchison

"ANYWAY," says Fleming, it would 'ave bin a pity to spoil my flawless record of five deficits, all of 'em much larger than I claimed in advance, bein' a modest sort of fella. And as long as I'm around you may be sure the record will never be broke, though the country may be.

"Of course I'll promise to balance the next budget, or the one after that, but it's only a little family joke between me and the voters so you need 'ave no fear on that score. To my last breath I'll fight off the temptation to live within my means, as promised, and I'll resist with all my power the 'ideous crime of any surplus as committed by the Liberals.

"But there's no such risk. Before the budget gets dangerously near to balance the business recovery will be finished, the revenues will fall again, according to plan, and we can resume our sound policy of ever-increasing debt as makes us the wonder of the world and the envy of mankind."

thinkin' man will ask what's wrong with it now. In short, we're fightin' the Liberal pipeline, and keepin' it full of gas.

"THE reason for a quick election, says Dief, is that the Liberals are blockadin' and fillbusterin' the public business that my 'gover'mint wants to postpone indefinitely in case we offend anybody. We can't 'ave the opposition 'oldin' up our policies when we can do it much better ourselves.

"So I'll get the election over, says Dief, before they call the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference for fear I might be tempted to do another Accratic act and annoy Britain's friends in Canada. I 'ave to remember that I'm the only thing as stands between the Commonwealth and Harold Macmillan as would destroy it. The British people depend on me to save 'em from their disloyal Conservative 'gover'mint and also, of course, from access to the Canadian market. I won't fail 'em on either count.

"They trust me to keep Britain out of Europe and British goods out of Canada to preserve the Commonwealth from sordid commercialism. The only thing as 'olds the Commonwealth together is my speeches. Yes, sir, 'igh tariffs on goods but free trade in oratory, that's my program.

"WELL," says Dief, it'll soon be over at the polls and then I can put the atomic war 'eads on those poor 'eadless Bomars in the wilderness and take 'em off some of my loyal colleagues. I won't fire the missiles, but I can't say the same for Fleming.

"So you can count on the 'gover'mint's victory," said Mrs. Noggins. "A sensible, thrifty people will always elect the party as achieves the biggest deficits and 'ands on the bill to future generations that fortunately 'ave no vote."

Crisis for Communism

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW

THE Communist Parties of all the world, including the Soviet Union itself, are waiting for news from Peking—news which may determine the future of global Communism.

After long delays and two postponements, and immediately on the heels of special emergency meetings of the National State Council and the Consultative Assembly, the National People's Congress, the supreme legislative body of Communist China, assembled this month to deliberate in secret.

The wall of silence is impenetrable: for the first time press and diplomatic representatives have been excluded, and so far there have been no leaks. But at least two major issues have to be threshed out, and it is clear that for some time the Chinese leadership has been deeply divided over both of them.

The first concerned domestic policy: what is to be done to save China from ruin as a result of past mistakes in planning, natural calamities, and the severe economic consequences of the quarrel with the Soviet Union.

The second issue is whether this quarrel should be patched up or pushed to an open breach. Mr. Khrushchev has made it clear enough that while he stands pat on his position, he is determined not to saddle himself with direct responsibility for a breach. The Chinese, to end an intolerable situation, must either make concessions or bring the quarrel out into the open.

Disguised Criticism

One reason for the last postponement of the National People's Congress was because the Chinese wanted to know what Mr. Khrushchev would have to say at the Moscow Central Committee plenum of March 5. It turned out that he had next to nothing to say—at any rate in his published speeches. There was enough fairly disguised criticism of China to indicate that he was not giving way; but the ball was left in the Chinese court.

To judge from the latest Albanian polemics, the real aim of the Chinese has been to unsettle Mr. Khrushchev, seen, in the words of a recent onslaught in the Tirana newspaper Zeri i Popullit as a betrayer of Marx and Lenin, a man determined to sell the pass to the capitalist West and ready to bully and threaten and blackmail fraternal parties into accepting his policies.

The article revealed that on the eve of the 22nd Party Congress last October, the Albanian Central Committee had written to the Soviet Central Committee arguing that the unity of the Communist world had been disastrously undermined by "the brutal, anti-Marxist actions of N. S. Khrushchev and his group," and pleading with them to eradicate "this dangerous disease"—i.e. the heretical policies of the leader of the world's senior Communist Party.

On the Soviet side, enough has already been revealed of the secret trafficking between Mr. Khrushchev and Chinese oppositionists, and of the persistent Soviet lobbying of fraternal parties to win their support in face of the Chinese challenge, to indicate that Mr. Khrushchev has entertained great hopes of dividing the Chinese Government itself and unsettling those who stand most firmly for the anti-Soviet line.

Communist Climax

All this has been discussed in Peking at a meeting which, no matter what may be decided, must mark a climactic in the history of the world Communist movement. At worst the Communist bloc will be fragmented, at best there will be a papering over of the cracks. It is not by any means a straight fight between Peking and Tirana versus Moscow and the rest.

Although at the grand meeting of the 81 Communist Parties in November-December, 1960, Mr. Khrushchev, by giving a little ground, managed to carry the day, he had to agree to another meeting "within two years" to take stock of a changing situation. Even then China found many sympathizers, particularly in Asia and Latin America.

The number of these sympathizers increased when, at the 22nd Party Congress, Mr. Khrushchev violently and brutally publicized the whole issue with his invective against Albania and the unfortunate Mr. Molotov (both charged with Peking's sins) and his casting of Stalin's body out of the tomb—with Chou En-lai's wreath still fresh against the bier.

Even among the European parties—in East Germany, in Czechoslovakia, in Italy, too, there were groups which sharply resented Mr. Khrushchev's high-handed attempt to frighten and stampede all opposition.

Grave Error

In Asia and Latin America, particularly, there are many who sympathize with the Chinese view that all-out aid should be given to revolutionary action and that it is a grave error to give money and moral support to bourgeois governments, such as the Government of India, simply because they take an anti-imperialist stand.

Many, too, feel strongly that Mr. Khrushchev had no business to expose the disunity of the Communist bloc by attacking the Albanian leadership in public. Many more share Peking's abhorrence of his attempts to treat with America.

Indeed, it is probably not too much to say that Mr. Khrushchev has been able to hold the fraternal parties together only by virtue of his determination to avoid war—as opposed to the Chinese attitude which still sees in war a possible way to the triumph of global Communism.

If the Chinese could only be brought to show a healthy fear of nuclear warfare they would win many converts to their anti-Khrushchev line.

Spreading It a Little Thicker

CANADA'S FARMERS ARE producing more butter than Canadians are consuming. The result is that the unsold butter stocks held by the federal government are increasing each year.

Ten years ago the government warehouses held 55 million pounds of this commodity. Today they hold 181 million pounds.

With a growing stockpile of butter for which there are no buyers, and public consumption dropping each year, it would seem reasonable for farmers to produce less. Yet instead of urging a reduction in the output of butter, the government is encouraging more and more production through subsidies.

Since 1957 butter consumption has dropped 11 per cent, yet in the same period production has increased 16 per cent. The butter that has not been bought by Canadian householders—who seem generally to prefer margarine at about half the price—has been bought and paid for by Canadian taxpayers and stored in warehouses.

The federal government now proposes to increase still further the involuntary investment of Canadians in butter stocks by knocking 12 cents a pound off the price to retailers. The price to the consumer, if this reduction is passed on, will still be well above the price of competitive margarine, so that it is unlikely that annual consumption will be much increased. What is clear, however, is that this move will add as much as $40 millions to the annual butter bill now being paid by Canadians whether they eat butter or not.

People of low incomes, eating their margarine, are helping to pay for the butter eaten by more fortunate Canadians.

How long can this Alice-in-Wonderland game go on? It may be fine for the farmers, who can continue profitably selling butter to the government to store in warehouses at public expense. But surely it is foolish to encourage increased production of a commodity of which people want less; and equally inequitable to make margarine eaters help to pay for the butter which others eat.

Butter subsidies on a large scale were a mistake in the first place. They have now become a farce. It will take courage for a government to say "no" to the farmers. But the alternative could well be a voting public's "no" to the government.

Shoddy Treatment

CTIONS of the federal government that MP George Chatterton must answer for is the shocking treatment this community has had in the matter of airport facilities at Patricia Bay.

For almost five years the Conservative government has been issuing splendid promises concerning the building of a proper air terminal and extending runways. In 1958, then transport minister George Hees announced that the existing "chicken-coop" airport would be replaced by a modern two-storey building providing a total of some 39,000 square feet.

Now Mr. Chatterton reveals that the plans have been revised, and that the facilities promised will cover 23,000 square feet, or approximately half of the concept promised. This is not good enough. As an international airport, Patricia Bay provides for thousands of inbound Seattle visitors their first look at Canada. At peak periods, upwards of 25,000 passengers a month pass through Patricia Bay. There they are confronted with hopelessly inadequate facilities, giving a distinct impression of a substandard community, running a Wright Brothers air operation in a jet age.

The fact is that Patricia Bay is the only capital city in Canada which has not been provided with modern terminal facilities. Anyone familiar with Canadian air travel will know that many cities of lesser size and importance are better equipped.

We have been pushed around on this matter in a most disgraceful fashion. It is the simple duty of Mr. Chatterton and Mr. McPhillips to stand up and fight for their constituents. So far we have had nothing but promises and evasions.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Thanks to a Big People

With very full hearts my wife and I wish to thank all the people who have given us help and comfort in our deep distress.

I have been in Canada only since 1953 and in this district for an even shorter time. Yet so many people who knew us only casually or who did not know us at all, have come forward in the loss of our small son and our home last Friday, that we feel we live in a community of friends.

People like us are not always treated with such consideration in other countries.

The funeral services for our son were held privately Monday morning to spare others the grief of the occasion. We are deeply grateful for all that has been done for us and are very proud to be among the Canadian people, who have proved to us the bigness of their hearts.

L. W. G. WERTHEIM-AYNES.
Pears Road, Metchosis.

Generous Response

Another demonstration of the spontaneous generosity of the citizens of Victoria took place at the last pair of symphony concerts. The Greater Victoria Schools Orchestra, who had been invited to compete in the Calgary Music Festival, took part in the program, and it was announced that funds were not available to provide even the minimum expenses. An appeal to the symphony audience resulted in immediate donations of over $500.

The other donations to the fund, must feel very happy with the results achieved by these accomplished young musicians. In spite of a train journey delayed 18 hours because of washouts, they were able to prove their superior musicianship by winning the major award.

Victoria people are proud of these young people and their conductor, Mrs. Dorothy Evans, who have brought such credit to our community.

It is to be hoped that a full house will be on hand at the special concert given by the Schools Orchestra, in Victorian High School Auditorium, tomorrow night, Wednesday.

JACK BARRACLOUGH, President, Victoria Symphony Society.

Canada's Interests First

In April 5 issue of your Times I took out a clipping captioned: "Same Goals for Labor and Religion," which quoted Rev. David Summers, Toronto, executive secretary of the Religion Labor Council of Canada, later mentioning "both religion and labor have common goals, spiritual and economic uplift."

After 60 years of experience in Canada and noting the contrast in many spheres of our economic life, the chief angle to view our present economic and financial condition is the imperative need "for all citizens of Canada" to realize the importance of putting Canada's interests first, then all other phases will fall into line—and get rid of these avicious thoughts demanding more which now allows other countries to use our high-priced market here as a dumping ground.

HARRY WYER.

'By Any Other Name ...

These are days of "big change"; even the poor old laissez faire gang are having to "get with it."

However, one must deplore the flavorless accent being imposed on our general environment by the "changers for the sake of change." Siebner's concept of Victoria does little for me by contrast to the name Foul Bay Road. How my imagination is ruffled; bless their high-buttoned boots and celluloid collars, our down-to-earth progenitors could at least call a spade a spade. Let us forget them let no pinch-gut-changer have his way with Foul Bay Road.

728 Haliburton Road.

Thanks to Electors

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the electors of Esquimalt Municipality for electing me to the Esquimalt Municipal Council in the by-election of April 7, and to express my sincere appreciation to my many friends who worked so diligently and tirelessly on the telephone and transportation committees that contributed so greatly to my success.

The interests and welfare of all the citizens of Esquimalt will be of primary consideration in all of my decisions while representing them on the Esquimalt Municipal Council.

REPORTING

OTTAWA—"If the Indians wish it," Hon. Ellen Fairclough told the Commons on March 13, her Indian Affairs branch would issue a new call for tenders to buy the timber on Tsimpsan Indian Reserve No. 2, north of Prince Rupert, B.C.

But the Indians vehemently did not wish it. In 1954 and 1957 their timber had been offered for sale, with no bidders. Last December it was offered again, with two bidders. If it were offered a fourth time there might be no bidders.

"We insist," the Tsimpsan Band Council resolved April 6, "that the Beaufort Industries contract to log our reserve be accepted at once."

This company had bid more than $2,200,000 in cash and kind for the timber, a bid the government had rejected in favor of a cash bid of $792,000 for a smaller amount of prime timber. The resultant protests of the high bid company, Opposition MPs and the Indians themselves forced Mrs. Fairclough to quash the contract award—but not to adhere to the Indians' plainly expressed wishes concerning the disposition of their property.

"I am here," Prime Minister Diefenbaker said April 12 to the emissary the Tsimpsans had rushed post-haste to Ottawa, "to see that justice is done to the Indians. I am willing to do that."

His justice did not, however, include directing his headstrong lady minister to do what the Indians wanted done with their timber. He had written a Bill of Rights guaranteeing certain rights without discrimination by reason of race, including the right to the enjoyment of property.

"We of the Tsimpsan Band are unanimously resolved that we be allowed to exercise our basic right of ownership in disposing of the timber on our reserve," the Indians had said.

In vain did the Indians' emissary, the venerable and highly respected Haida missionary, Rev. Dr. Peter Kelly of Nanaimo, protest to the prime minister that justice could not be done without his intervention. Action to direct the award of the contract to the Beaufort company, as the Indians wanted, would not be favoritism towards the company, Dr. Kelly argued. Rather, it would be confirming the Indians' enjoyment of that precious right in Mr. Diefenbaker's bill.

The 1,000 Tsimpsans have good reason to fear the delay that a new tender call will occasion. There are signs that the Japanese export market for their logs is deteriorating. If it falls there will be no market and no one will bid.

Moreover, government officials have dithered and procrastinated over this sale for nearly 11 months. Already the Tsimpsans have spent a winter without the woods work that sale of their timber last year could have provided. If there are further months of delay it will be impossible to get the access roads into the timber built in time for logging next winter. There will be no work, and no company-sponsored vocational training program to rehabilitate the band.

Last week the old Indian clergyman—he will be 77 on Saturday—designed Diefenbaker's office, seeking the door that the PM had once assured him would always be open to him. His conviction, his determination—and perhaps his strong Methodist faith—at last found that door. And while in the end he did not get what he asked, I doubt that John Diefenbaker will sleep well unless he insists that his lady minister move without further delay so that Doctor Peter's impoverished people will have work next winter and new hope for the years ahead.

Graduates Recruited To Teach in Africa

OTTAWA (CP)—University of Ottawa final-year and graduate students are being asked to volunteer for teaching posts in Africa.

The university said today it has received formal requests for 50 English-speaking Canadians to teach in Nigeria and 25 French-speaking graduates for teaching posts in other parts of Africa.

Rev. Louis-de-Gonzague Raby, the students' chaplain, and Susan Schouten, 18, of Pembroke, Ont., campus representative of Canadian University Serv-

U.A.R. Tinge To Syria's New Regime

DAMASCUS (Reuters)—A new government today took over Syria's administrative reins with a former United Arab Republic health minister, Dr. Bashir Azme, as premier.

Azme, 52, physician is a modern socialist and a relative newcomer to politics with no party affiliation.

The 15-man caretaker government, which was formed Monday night, is comprised mainly of young political moderates.

Their appointments came two days after President Nazem Koudsi had promised that a provisional government would be set up to do everything in its power to achieve union with Arab countries, starting with "dear Egypt."

Koudsi, who was reinstated as president Friday, also promised a new constitution and a new parliament elected in "free integral elections."

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Science at Work

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Friends, that tomato you picked up, so fair, unblemished and seemingly in the pink of condition, could be a case of beauty being only skin deep.

The poor thing may be suffering from internal injuries.

The theory that tomatoes are highly susceptible to internal bruising has just been resoundingly confirmed in the research laboratories of the U.S. department of agriculture.

A report on the study brings to light some of the most fascinating discoveries that I have seen in many a day.

First of all, the researchers established various ways that tomatoes can be bruised. They found that bruising can occur when tomatoes "are squeezed tightly together in a box," when there is "rough handling of the boxes," and "from dropping individual tomatoes on hard surfaces."

As far as I know, nobody had previously suspected that dropping a tomato on a hard surface might cause it harm.

The researchers then made some laboratory tests "to measure the amount of damage at various stages of ripeness when they were dropped distances ranging from six to 18 inches on a hard surface, and when dropped on a surface covered with a layer of foam rubber."

This led to the startling revelation that "injury to those dropped on hard surfaces was much the more serious."

If I interpret that correctly, it means that tomatoes are more badly bruised when dropped on a hard surface than when dropped on a soft surface. Eureka!

And that isn't all. The researchers also found that—hold onto your hats!—"the ripest tomatoes were injured most" by the dropping.

That may be hard to believe, but the report states it as a fact.

Furthermore, it says that injury from the dropping "was found to be cumulative; that is, when tomatoes were dropped two or more times, the damage was found to extend to more and more internal parts."

That conclusion especially came as a shock to me. I had always believed that the more you dropped a tomato, the better.

The tomato research, valuable though it may be, had what I regard as one serious shortcoming. Apparently, the tests did not establish whether the damage is greater when tomatoes are dropped at six inches or at 18 inches.

I trust that point will be cleared up in future experiments. And then I hope the researchers will do some comparable work on the effect that dropping has on eggs.

Let's Go on Dahlia Tubers

Unsprouted dahlia tubers can now be planted.

The usual depth is about seven to eight inches below soil level which means that the shoots will not appear for several weeks and are likely to miss any late frosts.

After the holes have been dug, drive in the stakes which will support the plants, and then lay the tubers at the bottom of the holes with the neck portion (where growth buds are) near the base of the stake.

Fill in about two or three inches of soil, adding more soil as the growths appear until the holes are finally level with the surface.

Dahlias are big plants with many flowers and therefore they like rich soil and old compost or old manure.

Tubers which have been sprouted indoors can be held for a week or so before going out, but give them good light and not too high a temperature to keep the growths short and strong.

These are planted in the same manner as unsprouted tubers, earth being filled in to nearly cover the growths at planting time.

When more plants of a certain variety are needed, the sprouts which were started indoors may be removed with a sharp knife when three inches or so in length and inserted in sharp sand to form roots. These are known as "green plants" and provide an easy way to increase the stock.

After roots have formed, the plants can be set out in the garden where they develop tubers, and often give flowers too, in the first season.

SYNOPSIS—Rain and southeasterly gales were reported over the north coast during the night as a storm near the Charlottes slowly works its way inland. The storm is expected to weaken considerably as it moves eastward, however, and only a few showers will likely occur as the storm passes the south coast and northern interior regions. In the southern interior there will be increasing cloudiness. Following this disturbance it will be mostly cloudy and a little cooler along the coast on Wednesday.

'Tighten Bankrupt Laws'

OTTAWA (CP)—The government was asked today to crack down on companies suspected of fraudulent bankruptcies and to rewrite legislation governing bankruptcies.

The requests were included in the annual submission to the government by the Canadian Construction Association, representing more than 9,000 building firms.

The group expressed concern over the "marked rise" in the number of bankruptcies of construction firms.

"The apparent relative ease of re-entry into business by bankrupts and the number of fraudulent bankruptcies have caused particular concern," the brief said.

The association recommended prosecution of firms suspected of fraudulent bankruptcies with provision for court-appointed public accountants to make "an independent report on the financial operations of the bankrupt."

Other recommendations suggested that all merchandise sold to a bankrupt within four months of the bankruptcy go into a pool of assets to be shared by the creditors, and that creditors with a lien on a single building be dealt with as a separate class.

SEEKS HIGHWAY POLICY

The association also urged the government to enter the field of highway construction on a permanent basis and to extend mortgage assistance to cover the purchase of existing homes.

The builders recommended the adoption of a national highway policy and establishment of a permanent organization to co-ordinate the construction of "roads of national importance."

Other recommendations: Provision of more tax incentives to stimulate capital investment; prohibition of the deduction of union dues for the collection of political contributions; expansion of the National Productivity Council to include more representatives of organized management and organized labor; more research into Canada's manpower needs and into employment policies of other countries.

Profit Share, Management Deal Falters

Plans to make Growers' Wine Co., Ltd., the first local industry to share profit and management with its union employees have fallen short.

Management last year said it would offer a block of shares to employees, plus the chance to sit on the firm's board of directors.

A union spokesman said today "there hasn't been any definite offer" as far as a directorship is concerned.

Managing director E. C. Warner said, "We didn't feel we could proceed any further with putting a union man on the board."

'PREMATURE'

"We agreed that would be a little premature," he said, referring to a mutual agreement between directors and the union.

Members of Local 244 International Union of Brewery, Flour, Cereal, Soft Drink and Distillery Workers of America, formed a syndicate to purchase company shares by payroll deduction.

LIMITED

This plan has been put into effect, with a limit placed upon the number of shares which might be held by employees.

The block of shares was taken from those held by one of the executives of the company.

Originally, it had been hoped to form a closer bond between employees and management to mutual advantage, similar to many such plans in effect in Europe.

Mr. Warner said the firm does have a management co-operation committee, concerned with production and efficiency, on which the union secretary Jack Battle sits.

But this body has only advisory powers.

Bank Governor's Term, Pension Must Be Clarified

TORONTO. (CP) — Investment dealer A. H. Cameron said Monday the Bank of Canada Act should be amended to clarify the term of the governor, his pension, the way he can be removed and his relation to the government.

"Perhaps it's too much to hope for, but I don't think we should be treated to another 1961," he told the royal commission on banking and finance. He was obviously referring to last year's uproar that led to James E. Coyne's resignation as governor.

Among his proposals was one that the central bank's board of directors should consist of three or four persons, with a working knowledge of finance.

15 LINES A MINUTE ON NEW LINOTYPE

NEW YORK (AP)—The Mergenthaler Linotype Company has announced the development of Elektron, a tape-operated, hot metal linecasting machine designed especially for speeds of 15 lines a minute.

The speediest linotype machines at present put out 12 lines a minute, the company said.

J. A. Keller, Mergenthaler president, announced the new machine. He said it will be shown to newspaper executives for the first time next week during the American Newspaper Publishers' Association meeting.

'Expansion, Prosperity for Oil Industry'

CALGARY (CP)—The Canadian oil industry has begun a period of expansion and prosperity during which companies will "produce more, sell more and earn more," John Getgood, president of Pacific Petroleum Limited, said today.

Mr. Getgood, speaking to the annual meeting of Pacific shareholders, said, "under the national oil policy, we are getting a more equitable share of the North America market and, after a long stagnant period, the growth rate of the Canadian industry has accelerated to become one of the best in the world."

The national oil policy, announced in Ottawa Feb. 1, 1961, committed oil producers to meet specific production targets. The policy asked the industry to expand production by 260,000 barrels a day by 1964, bringing it to a total of about 800,000.

Mr. Getgood said "virtually all Canadian oil companies" now were "generating funds and attracting investment capital for those projects which are essential to the full development of the country's petroleum resources."

He said the recently-opened Western Pacific Products and Crude Oil pipeline from northeastern British Columbia to Vancouver, the oil boom in northeastern British Columbia and the intense search for natural gas reserves in the Fort Nelson, B.C., area were "prime examples of new developments occurring in the revitalized Canadian petroleum industry."

Pacific now has an interest in 4,000,000 acres of land in northeastern B.C. and participated in 20 of the 29 major gas wells completed there to date. The firm is the largest landholder in B.C.

Mr. Getgood said some of the largest gas wells ever discovered in North America have been completed on acreage in northeastern B.C. now held by Pacific.

"These and other discoveries made to date in the Fort Nelson region," he said, "strongly indicated that this is one of

SPECIAL BULLETIN: Canada's first international length King Size

filter cigarette, invented by the Rothmans Group in 1951. Since then, smokers in over 140 countries have made it the world's largest-selling King Size Virginia cigarette.

Rothmans King Size is 85 millimetres long.

Most Canadian cigarettes are 72 or 74 m.m.

See the difference? Rothmans King Size is a good 18% longer than short cigarettes. But it sells at the same price!

The extra length means an extra half-inch of top quality Virginia tobacco in every Rothmans King Size. That's why it's so fully packed and rich in flavour. The extra length of Rothmans King Size also adds a great deal of smoothness to the cigarette.
Extra smoothness and extra mildness, too.

Try Rothmans King Size Filter in the

HERB ELLIOTT DECIDES TO END GREAT CAREER

CAMBRIDGE, Eng. (AP)—Herb Elliott publicly announced his retirement from international competition in a British newspaper Monday and brought to a sudden close one of track and field's most spectacular careers.

The 23-year-old runner from Australia who raised the art of mile racing to heights never before achieved goes out unbeaten over his favorite distance.

In all, he cracked the four-minute barrier for the mile 17 times and his world record of 3:54.5 stood for nearly four years until it was finally cracked by New Zealander Peter Snell (3:54.4) last January.

CAHA HEADS SAYS:

'Olympic Oath Ignored by All'

SIMCOE, Ont. (CP)—"There isn't a country in the world that lives up to the Olympic oath," John M. Roxburgh, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said Monday.

Mr. Roxburgh was commenting on a resolution passed by the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association that the Canadian Army be asked to take over training and sponsorship of Canada's 1964 Olympic hockey team.

"So far as I'm concerned it's a good idea and would have to be given full consideration at our meeting in Ottawa at the end of May," he said.

But Mr. Roxburgh said the CAHA could only act on the suggestion by disregarding the present Olympic oath.

"I realize lots of other countries do this," he said. "In fact there is no nation that can send a team to the games and truly live up to the oath. But when we shut our eyes to something we are teaching the youth of the country to 'shut their eyes to what is right and wrong.'"

Celtics Tie Series

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Boston Celtics made a great second half comeback Monday night to beat Los Angeles Lakers 119-105 and send their National Basketball Association playoff series into a seventh and deciding game at Boston Wednesday night.

Bees Open PCL With 2-1 Win

HONOLULU (AP)—Salt Lake City Bees, who drifted to the end of the 1961 Pacific Coast Baseball League season in eighth place, kicked off the 1962 schedule Monday night with a tight 2-1 victory over the Hawaiian Islanders.

The rest of the league moves into action today with a full slate of games, Tacoma opening defence of last year's title at San Diego, Vancouver at Seattle, Spokane at Portland, and Hawaii again playing host to the Bees.

Floyd Weaver, a 20-year-old righthander who has been in professional baseball less than three months, went all the way for Salt Lake City allowing only four hits.

The game went into the eighth inning a 1-1 tie before

Hal Jones walked, advanced to third on a throwing error, and came home on a sacrifice bunt by Jim Lawrence.

Salt Lake City had taken the lead in the second inning when Lawrence scored from first on a double by Nelson Matthews, then lost the advantage in the bottom half of the inning on Herb Plews' 320-foot home run.

Salt Lake ..... 010 000 010-2 4 3
Hawaii ..... 010 000 000-1 4 3
Weaver (W) and Lawrence; Egan McDermott (L) and Hannah. Home run: Hawaii, Plews.

Will Army Train Our Hockey Club?

CALGARY (CP)—The Canadian Army was asked to train and sponsor Canada's hockey team for the 1964 Olympics in a resolution passed at the semi-annual meeting here Sunday of the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association.

The resolution asks the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association to consider letting the army take over the 1964 Olympic hockey club and stock it with promising juvenile and junior players.

The motion requested that the CAHA make a direct approach to army chief of staff. Under the plan Canada would be grooming young hockey clubs in a manner similar to Russia, Czechoslovakia, and other European nations.

"I think this is the only way to form a good national hockey club and keep it amateur and together for at least a year," Stu Peppard of Calgary said.

Peppard said the team could be selected prior to the 1963 hockey season.

The nucleus of the club would consist primarily of Canada's most promising junior and juvenile hockey

The promoters, who will have a $100 top price for tickets; assembled the British Broadcasting Corporation; will accept sealed bids for closed circuit television rights, and anticipate a gate of from $1,250,000 to $2,250,000, aren't going to toss their money around.

Which explains the two-site indecision in New York.

Yankee Stadium wants too much money. The inference in the Polo Grounds' alternative or "some other city" is that the Yanks better get with the proper price or blow their one-night tenant.

There's little question, either, as to why at this late date they're still hashing around with other cities and nebulous bids from unnamed syndicates sending mysterious telegrams.

This is to let the New York State Athletic Commission know that it better get on the stick and grant Liston a licence pronto and no foolishness. This gentle hint undoubtedly results from the sorry state of boxing in general and the questionable state of Liston, in particular.

REHABILITATED?

There's no doubt that every man deserves another chance, but there may be a question in some minds as to how many players with enough army service veterans to add depth and experience to the lineup. The club would be controlled and trained by the army, devoting a complete schedule to hockey. This would allow the team to play and practice as a unit for several months, Peppard said.

After the Olympic Games the players could be discharged from the army if they desired.

If the team lost in Allan Cup play on non-Olympic seasons, the victorious club would represent Canada in the world hockey championships.

But in Olympic years the army team would be the only one eligible in terms of semi-professional and true amateur ratings.

Canada's '63 Olympic Team To Total 180

TORONTO (CP)—A team of 180 will be sent to the 1963 Pan-American Games at Sao Paulo, Brazil, the Canadian Olympic Association decided at its annual meeting.

The budget to cover the Pan-American Games and the two sections of the Olympic Games was set at $340,000.

The association will ask the federal government for $156,000, provincial governments for $47,500 and the rest will come from public subscription and from sporting bodies.

The team strength for the 1964 Olympic Games at Tokyo was set at 71, subject to review after the Empire Games at Perth, Australia, in November this year, and the Pan-American games in March, 1963.

Top Trainer Suspended After Doping

SAN BRUNO, Calif. (AP)—Tanforan's leading horse trainer, Keith Stucki, was suspended Saturday by the track's board of stewards after a laboratory reported one of his nine winners had been drugged.

Stucki denied he had drugged Easy Four, winner of the second race Thursday. He said he was astounded by the reports that chemical tests showed the presence of phenylbutazone, a forbidden drug.

The stewards forfeited the winner's $1,200 purse.

Chile's Workers Want Time Off for Soccer

SANTIAGO (Reuters)—Chile is completing preparations for the May 30 opening of the world soccer championships, an event so momentous it threatens to disrupt the country's economy.

Sixteen national teams from Europe and South America have survived elimination rounds to qualify for the trip to Chile and the final matches for the World Cup—up for competition every four years.

Interest in the series is so intense that unions are considering asking that all work stop during the hours games are being played. This would mean the country would practically be at a standstill during the early hours of the afternoon for 10 days.

The impact on the economy of such a work stoppage would be almost more than it could bear. And experts now are trying to find a solution that will satisfy both the fans and the government.

USE FOUR FIELDS

The World Cup matches will be played in four stadiums with a total capacity of 154,432; and all but a tiny fraction of those seats are expected to be filled for every match.

The largest stadium and the site of the final, is the National Stadium in Santiago, the capital.

The stadium will hold 78,000 spectators and has 30 booths for the hundreds of foreign newspaper men and communi-

'Must Recognize Need' For Columbia Action

Further delay in development of the Columbia River may have "very serious consequences" for both Canada and the United States, Dr. H. L. Keenleyside, joint chairman of the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority, told American delegates to a power conference here Monday.

"The next 10 days will decide the future of Columbia River negotiations (between the federal and B.C. governments)," he told the 22nd annual meeting of the Northwest Public Power Association.

"I wouldn't want to rock the boat at this time. Three weeks ago it would have been easier for me to show a little initiative on this subject."

Under a monster sign which read: "The B.C. Hydro and Power Authority Welcomes the Northwest Public Power Association," Dr. Keenleyside repeatedly warned the American visitors of "the dangers of delay in developing the Columbia."

Apparently referring to the Ottawa government, he said: "It would be a very serious responsibility indeed for any government to prevent the project from going into effect as rapidly as possible."

"We all hope that those who are responsible for these great resources will recognize the need for immediate action."

He commended the Northwest Public Power Association for its wisdom in holding its first conference in Victoria at a time when the B.C. Electric and the B.C. Power Commission had been merged into one unit as the B.C. Hydro and Power Commission.

"The change means that just under 80 per cent of all electric utilities in Canada are now publicly owned," Dr. Keenleyside said.

"Faced with this tremendous opportunity, which will not last indefinitely, the power policy of this province is to develop our resources as rapidly as possible and obtain markets wherever we can," Dr. Keenleyside told the delegates that B.C. has between 22 and 25,000,000 undeveloped horsepower.

"If we don't do something soon, we will lose out entirely. That is why we plan to begin immediate development of both the Peace and Columbia Rivers."

'TURNING POINT' FOR PUBLIC POWER

The B.C. government's takeover of the B.C. Electric Co. was a dramatic turning point for public power in the Pacific Northwest.

Dan Jolley, president of the Northwest Public Power Association now meeting in Victoria, told a meeting today at the Empress Hotel today:

"The impact of this (takeover) has been enormous in raising the percentage of consumer ownership to a new high plateau."

In 1960, he said, the public and co-operative electric systems of the Northwest were serving 36.1 per cent of the region's population.

SEVERING 49.1%
In 1961, following the B.C. government's takeover, these systems were serving 49.1 per cent of the region's 8,000,000 people.

Mr. Jolley said the consumer-owned systems of B.C., Alaska, Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana are now serving almost 4,000,000 people with "low-cost power."

"These systems have assets of almost 2½ billion dollars, with a billion dollar new construction program underway. The benefits of consumer-owned power are established facts—they show a sound record of past achievement, and they provide a solid foundation on which to build for the future."

Mr. Jolley said the symbols of the New Age will be million kilowatt power plants and extra high voltage, long-distance transmission lines.

"Some of the big projects we can see on the horizon are the Mica Creek Dam and Portage Mountain Dam here in British Columbia—the Rampart Dam in Alaska, and the Nez Perce Dam on the Middle Snake River."

He said the recent Bonneville report recommended construction of a 881-mile direct current intertie from the Columbia River to Los Angeles.

"I also understand that a direct current trans-Canada transmission line is under consideration."

AIMED AT TOURIST TRADE

New Outlet Planned For City Hobbyists

Amateur artists and hobbyists will get a "shot" at the tourist trade this summer through a clearinghouse for local skills planned by a young Victoria couple.

Planning to open a store on Government Street opposite the post office May 1 are Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Banks who have formed a partnership known as Stuart Studios.

"Our idea is to give all local hobbyists an outlet for their work," Mr. Banks said today. "We would only handle B.C. handicrafts and our aim is to keep prices at reasonably low levels so that the articles will sell."

Mr. Banks said the outlet would be of particular benefit to two groups of hobbyists: those that have "over-run their homes with their own work and need a new outlet or quit"; and pensioners trying to supplement their income.

Range of articles the studio would sell on a consignment basis is almost unlimited.

"We will handle leather work, paints, ceramics, polished stones and jewelry, mosaic tile tables, knitwear and sewing, artificial flowers—almost anything made by a hobbyist," Mr. Banks said.

Response to the idea is encouraging, he added. More than 100 circular letters were sent out to individual hobbyists recently "and already we've had about 20 replies indicating they would be interested in supplying their work for sale."

"Anyone who wants to find out more about it can phone EV 5-5208," he said.

The proposed venture is an outgrowth of the couple's first effort last year when they rented display space in a Government Street store for Japanese prints in hand-made frames produced here.

"We sold an awful lot by mail order and this year we decided to rent the store and expand the operation to all local handicrafts, if we can arrange all the financing," Mr. Banks said.

LIEN CLAPPED ON MONORAIL

SEATTLE (AP)—A $28,276 lien against the Seattle World's Fair monorail system was filed here Monday by Los Angeles architect Adrian Wilson.

The architect claims the money is due him, in addition to earlier payments, for design work on the monorail system, which runs from downtown Seattle to the fair grounds.

HEALTHY HEARTS START IN CRADLE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A baby's first meal should start him on a diet aimed at preventing a heart attack years later, two doctors suggest.

That means changing the type of fats in his milk, and later on in his solid foods, they said.

The idea: Keep him from developing high amounts of cholesterol and other blood fats blamed for clogging arteries and bringing on heart attacks and strokes.

Babies are born with low levels of cholesterol in their blood, said Dr. Laurence Kin-sell of Oakland, Calif., and Dr. Herbert Pollack of New York City.

But it rises as they grow older if they eat the typical foods high in so-called saturated fats, including dairy fats, they said.

The American Heart Association has urged a change in diet for adults. It recommends cutting down on the customary intake of saturated fats—the kind which usually are solid at room temperature — and increasing the intake of unsaturated fats supplied by vegetable oils, fish and fowl.

It would be a good idea to start babies right off on the same kind of diet, Kin-sell and Pollack said. They spoke at a symposium on coronary heart disease sponsored by Hahnemann Medical College and hospital, and later amplified their views to reporters.

If a mother nurses her baby, she can supply the right kind of milk by eating foods high in the polyunsaturated fats, the physicians said.

If the baby is drinking formula milk, they said it would be skim milk with butter fat removed, and unsaturated fats added from corn oil, cottonseed oil or safflower oil.

Both physicians stressed that they were not calling for a reduction in total consumption of milk, "because milk is so valuable in supplying proteins and minerals," Pollack said.

'A BRIGHTER LATER LIFE'

They Found a Real Reason for Living

Here is the ninth of 12 articles from the book, "A Brighter Later Life," by Howard Whitman, noted writer on human affairs and social problems.

By HOWARD WHITMAN
"It's not the money I make, it's the honor of working," said one elderly man.

A woman over 70 added, "We older people like to be doing something, producing something—that makes us feel we have a real reason for living."

The scene was the Senior Workshop in Chicago, a left factory for packaging, assembly, and similar light work, manned entirely by men and women over 60.

The Senior Workshop is a sub-contracting operation. Its "salesmen" get jobs from various outside businesses, jobs which can be farmed out and efficiently performed by older workers on a mass-production basis.

When we visited the workshop, teams of older workers were turning out decorative bows of yellow ribbon, packing a dozen or more separate items into traveling kits, packaging varied assortments of candy, assembling various small items of hardware into parts kits.

Forgot His Cane

Edwin C. Palm, assistant manager of the workshop, was approaching his 69th birthday when we saw him; he had come to the workshop three years before, hobbling on a cane and looking for some productive activity because, as he put it, "I was sick and tired of lounging around."

"I got so interested in the work here, I forgot all about my cane. Never use it any more," Mr. Palm recounted.

"People love to be doing something worthwhile when so much of the world is ready to call them useless. Most of us have never been so happy with our work in all our lives."

The eldest senior member we met was Miss Anna Ellert, 86. She was forming and clipping together decorative ribbon bows for packages on a stamping machine. Miss Ellert had been a shoe sales-lady for 33 years.

"I retired and sat around for eight or nine years," she commented. "But finally I just couldn't stand it any longer. I came here to put myself to some use. And I'm mighty glad I did. I like work. I'm always so happy when a new order comes in."

Much to Offer

The Senior Workshop is the living proof of the beliefs of Dr. David E. Sonquist, educator and sociologist, who founded the workshop's parent organization, Senior Achievement.

"Our older citizens have much to offer in productive activity," he declared. "The business community can make much use of their skills. And they themselves can reap the profits, not only in additional retirement income, but far more importantly in the warm, rewarding feeling that comes with leading a productive life."

Schenectady, N.Y., is a haven for engineers, especially electrical and electronic engineers, being one of the strongholds of the electrical industry. Young engineers from all over the country seek out Schenectady and many transfer there in mid-career.

But what happens to engineers when they grow old? Do they just fade away?

One group of them certainly hasn't. In 1948 a handful of engineers who had passed the retirement age at their companies and been turned out to pasture decided that they still had a great deal to offer at the drawing board.

They founded the Mohawk Development Service, an engineering company manned by the men over 65 whom industry had turned out.

The enterprise started with initial capital of only $2,000 and this was used to buy drawing boards, drafting equipment, filing cabinets and desks.

When the industrial community learned what brains and talent had been gathered together and what rich experience tapped in the Mohawk group, orders were not long in coming. Within a year the new company had contracts from Ludlum Steel, the Atomic Energy Commission, American Locomotive, the Oil Institute of New York, and General Electric.

The retirees themselves were happy to be back at the drawing board. For men like this, with agile brains and lifetimes of knowledge in new, exciting fields, a life of productive endeavor was as vital to the human organism as food itself.

One retired engineer summed-up the attitude of the group when he asked, "What am I to do? Sit at home and move from chair to chair while they clean the room?"

At the end of its first year, the Mohawk group had grown from six to 16. And at the end of its first decade, in 1958, Mohawk had 30 engineers—with an average age of 70.

By the end of 1961, Mohawk's senior engineers had designed turbines, turbo-generators, Diesel engines, automatic valve operators, giant motors, and recently the military establishment called upon them to prepare technical instruction books for the operation of military equipment, such as gunfire control apparatus.

Productivity after 60? Mohawk seems to be proving that engineers, like wine, improve with age.

The small office was on the fourth floor of the Hanna Building, in downtown Cleveland. Across the table from us sat Edward W. Gressle, nearing his 70th birthday. He rifled through the index cards in a small metal box calling off as he went, "Investment counsellor, insurance executive, ad man, engineer, business executive, research man . . ." and then he looked up at us and said: "There's easily $10,000,000 worth of talent in this little metal box."

This was the office of the Cleveland Senior Council and Mr. Gressle, who, prior to his retirement, had been head of industrial relations for Cleveland's Warner & Swasey Company, was its executive director.

The "$10,000,000 worth of talent" to which he referred were the 160 retired business and professional men and women who formed the membership of the council—a veritable blue book of top executives, engineers, financiers, scientists and others who had reached the top of their respective fields.

But not content with retirement, they had returned to form the Senior Council so they could help and advise younger people out of the richness of their experience.

There was the young man from nearby Elyria, Ohio, who had a small office-supply business and wanted to expand. He was given the pointers he needed.

There was the small manufacturer with only half-a-dozen employees who had become mired in the paperwork of withholding taxes, social security deductions and multiple tax forms. He was rescued with adroit counseling.

There was the young man with a fast-growing business now numbering 40 employees who wanted to organize along big corporation lines with a board of directors. The senior council helped him create a board of top-notch business men, all of whom agreed to serve without fee.

Should Be Victors

Retirement and proper preparation for it is one of the senior council's major fields of interest. It ardently believes that retirement need not be a grey period of uselessness and defeat; it can be instead a period of productivity and satisfaction.

Retirees are the men who have made the grade. They have succeeded in their allotted years of day-to-day working life. They have reached the graduation day of their careers and are entitled to the diplomas and the honors for having passed the course.

In this sense, retirement is another of life's many commencements, leading to a new status of recognition and achievement.

Too often, the council believes, the men and women who retire are regarded as the vanquished; they should, instead, be regarded as the victors.

The Cleveland Senior Council in its work with various companies tries to make this new, positive view of retirement a reality. And in its own very existence — in the emphatically productive services its men in their 60s, 70s and 80s perform—the senior council is living proof of that reality.

Paget Issues Licences For Dams on Columbia

B.C. water rights comptroller Arthur F. Paget Monday issued licences to B.C. Hydro to build the three-dam Columbia River power project.

As far as he is concerned, work can start immediately on the dams, at Arrow Lake, Duncan Lake and Mica Creek.

The project, however, must be approved under the federal Navigable Waters Protection Act and the International Rivers Act before B.C. can go ahead.

Latest starting dates, laid down in the licences, are Dec.

31 for Arrow and Duncan and Dec. 31, 1963, for Mica.

The licences are almost exactly what B.C. Hydro asked. But they contain provisions giving Mr. Paget control over release of water from the dams.

The licences are in line with the goals of the Columbia treaty between Canada and the U.S., but the projects could go ahead without it.

One clause in the licences gives the water comptroller complete control over the flow of water over the dams. This could affect the amount of downstream benefits to which Canada is entitled under the treaty.

Mr. Paget said it was aimed at preserving the best interests of the province regardless of pressure from anywhere for regulation of the water flow.

Operation of the reservoir created by the dams is also subject to the controller's direction—in consultation with any agencies involved such as a special federal-provincial authority to administer the treaty.

TWO-FOOT DROP

Only change in the plans presented by B.C. Hydro is a licence clause cutting the height of Arrow Lakes flooding by two feet.

The water cannot rise above 1,444 feet without written permission from the comptroller for flooding the extra two feet.

This followed a strong representation at public hearings last year by the late George Hobbs, NDP-CCF member of the legislature for Revelstoke. He said a railway bridge there would be flooded if the water went as high as 1,446 feet.

The Duncan dam will flood its reservoir to 1,892 feet; Mica Creek to 2,450 feet.

The licences allow storage of 7,100,000 acre feet a year at Arrow Lakes—the amount specified in the treaty; 7,000,000 acre feet at Mica and 1,400,000 at Duncan.

Arrow and Duncan must be completed by Dec. 31, 1967, and Mica by Dec. 31, 1973.

IN LINE

These time limits would also fit in with the treaty.

The comptroller shall decide on how the reservoirs are to be cleared, in consultation with the deputy forests minister.

The comptroller also will decide the question of public access.

All three licences contain the provision that B.C. Hydro pay $10,000 to the recreation department for studies on conservation and protection of fish and wild life in each project.

The comptroller also has the right to step in to settle any disputes over expropriation of land and compensation to landowners.

Hearings in Summer On Peace R. Project

Public hearings on B.C. Hydro's application to build the Peace River power project probably will be held this summer.

Although work has already started, a water licence from the provincial water comptroller is needed before the actual dams are started.

Water comptroller, Arthur

F. Paget, said Monday he expects there will be hearings, and dates and locations will be set by the end of the month.

"There have been more objections than perhaps we anticipated," said Mr. Paget.

They have come from property owners, oil companies and mines, and most of them concern the question of compensation for land to be flooded.

Driver Fined as Impaired Stalled on Railway Track

City police Sunday found Robert Kelly, 170 Goward, trying to start his car which had stalled on a railway crossing near Ogden Point docks.

Pact Signed

LONDON (Reuters) — Australia, Belgium, France, West Germany, Italy, Holland and Britain have signed an agreement for the establishment of the European Satellite Launcher Development Organization (ELDO), British Aviation Minister Thorneycroft said Monday.

The initial program, now under way, provided for the development of a launcher, using the British Blue Streak rocket as the first stage, he told the House of Commons.

Police tapped on the window but Kelly ignored them and drove off. They stopped him two blocks away.

He was fined $250, had his licence suspended and was banned from driving anywhere in Canada for six months by Magistrate William Ostler in city police court Monday when he pleaded guilty to impaired driving.

Kelly also was fined $25 for driving without a licence. William Papushak, 2815 Trans Canada Highway, was fined $250 and had his licence suspended in the same court for impaired driving Saturday night.

Police said his car crashed into a parked truck while travelling west on Gorge near the intersection of Rock Bay.

Garbage Contracting May End in Saanich

Saanich council Monday ordered a study into the possibility of operating its own garbage collection service.

The study will be carried out by the health and welfare committee.

Garbage collection is now contracted to Lorne McNutt.

The proposal for a municipally-operated service was made by Coun. Robert Chard after residents on Courtland Avenue protested Mr. McNutt's plan to erect an incinerator in a field near their street.

They also complained that Mr. McNutt is using his property as a garbage dump and junk yard and kept rabbits on the property.

They claimed the garbage and rabbits attracted seagulls, rats and flies.

NO HAZARD

But Dr. A. N. Beattie, in a report, said two inspectors who investigated conditions on the property found no evidence of neglected garbage or anything of "public health significance".

Inspector of services D. W. R. Smith said the property is zoned as a garbage, refuse collection and transfer depot.

Mr. McNutt denied that garbage is attracting rats to the district.

Council decided to postpone its decision to allow an incinerator on Mr. McNutt's property until the health and welfare committee had reported on the advisability of a municipally-operated garbage collection service.

Smuggler Fined

MONTREAL (CP) — Peter Jue, 65, of Montreal Monday was fined $1,500 for participating in a racket to smuggle Chinese aliens into Canada. He pleaded guilty.

LABOR UNION OFFICES PICKETED BY CLERKS

PORTLAND (AP)—Headquarters of the International Woodworkers of America were closed again today as picketing continued by 16 office employees seeking a wage increase.

Family of 7 Escapes Early Morning Blaze

Fire Starts Around Fuse Box

A man, his wife and five children had a narrow brush with death or serious injury early this morning when driven from their Prior Street home by fire of undetermined cause.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, 2915 Prior, and Patrick, 11; Susan, 9; Jennifer, 6; Paul, 3, and Vicki, 10 months, fled their two-storey frame home in night attire at 1.10 a.m.

City firemen confined the flames to the rear of the house.

Interior of the house was affected mostly by smoke and water.

Insured

No estimate of total damage was available this morning but it's understood the loss is covered by insurance.

Firemen said the fire originated near fuse and junction boxes on the back porch. Mr. Brown said his wife, Mary, woke him up when she saw a "red flickering in the window" and he looked out to see "flames licking around the house."

The couple roused the children and bundled them out of the house by the front door.

Went Back

"I had a bit of difficulty with this guy," said Mr. Brown, indicating Patrick. "I got him out of bed and bumped him a couple of times and he went straight back to bed again."

Two of the children were in a front bedroom, which was relatively undamaged, but the baby and two others were in the rear of the house. The window here was burned through and broken glass was lying in and around the crib.

Just Moved

A welder at Yarrows Ltd., Mr. Brown had just moved his family in three weeks before. He credits this with helping to save their lives.

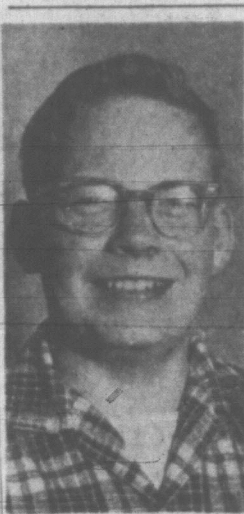

He and his wife were using the side bedroom temporarily until the main front room could be readied for them. "It's a good job we were in there," he said, "because if we had been in front we wouldn't have awakened in time."

Mr. Brown today took the day off, along with the three eldest school children, to help move some belongings into the house of Mrs. Ida M. Briggs, 2921 Prior, where they are staying.

Rent House

Mr. Brown said he hopes to rent a house while their home is being repaired. Their problem is complicated by the arrival Sunday, of Mrs. Brown's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Henry, from Southampton, England.

The Browns came to Canada six years ago from Southampton and moved to Victoria six months later.

Boy, 13, Wins Science Fair First Prize

A 13-year-old Victoria boy who wants to be a scientist has won first prize in the Junior section of the B.C. Youth Science Fair in Vancouver.

Angus Arrol, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Arrol, 1955 Bouchier, will receive a complete set of the Encyclopedia of "Unique Method in Sound Transmission."

His entry in the fair, which was opened Friday by Education Minister Leslie Peterson, was a transmitter which ran current into a bicycle wheel which had been wound with wire.

This, he said today, produces a "field" which transmits through the air to a similar wheel which receives the field and converts it back into sound which is able to be picked up by earphones.

CAN BE HEARD

"It works in the same way as a radio transmitter," said the grade nine Oak Bay Junior High School student, "but the frequency is low enough so you can hear it."

Science teacher Hal Chalmers said the school Science Club was formed only this year with himself as sponsor. "The basic scientific knowledge of this boy is amazing," he said. "He's a thinker and he will go places."

11 Engineers To Receive Certificates

Certificates will be presented to 11 Victorians who registered recently as professional engineers at a meeting of the Victoria branch of the Association of Professional Engineers of B.C. at Holyrood Place, 2315 McBride, on Wednesday, April 25 at 5.15 p.m.

A panel discussion on confederation of engineering groups in Canada will follow dinner. Panelists will be A. B. Sanderson, president of the association, and professor W. O. Richmond of UBC.

Those receiving certificates are, D. J. Kermod, N. G. Arnsperg, W. E. Rolis, W. Morley, J. Hovdansk, J. Bertok, R. D. Bennett, W. White, R. J. Ward, J. Loukotsky and E. Livingston.

Dockyard Open To Sailors' Wives

Relatives of officers and men of three RCN Pacific Command destroyers returning to HMC Dockyard Thursday after a three-and-one-half month cruise will be permitted to meet the ships, a navy spokesman said today.

HMC Ships Assiniboine, Ottawa, and Margaree will dock at A Jetty at 10 a.m.

'CHAIN TELEPHONE' SYSTEM CALLS BACK FRIGATE CREW

Two RCN Pacific Command frigates, HMC Ships Antigonish and Beacon Hill, left Esquimalt Harbor this morning on an operational exercise following a surprise recall for the Antigonish.

Crew members who were ashore were called back to their ship through the "chain telephone" system.

Area and duration of the exercise has not been announced.

Pedestrian Dies After Car Mishap

Police Appeal for Witnesses To April 6 Douglas Collision

Death in hospital early today of 77-year-old Allan Pynn, 3960 Cedar Hill Cross Road, raises the number of traffic fatalities in Greater Victoria this year to four. Mr. Pynn was in critical condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital since he was in collision with a car as he crossed North Douglas Street April 6.

An inquest likely will be held but no date has been set up to press time.

Tramp, Brooks Douglas of the city police traffic department today appealed through the Times for witness to the accident.

The collision occurred as the victim crossed Douglas from west to east about 100 feet north of the intersection of Summit at 9.50 p.m.

City police said point of impact was in the centre of the road, which was dry at the time. The elderly man was wearing dark clothing, they said.

Police identified the car

Police Hunt Knife-Waving Store Robber

City police today are searching for two men who held up the wife of a city store owner at knifepoint Monday night and escaped with about $100 in cash.

The robbery occurred at 8.35 p.m. at the Quadra Market, 1725 Quadra, where Mrs. Denise Lowe was alone washing dishes. Her husband was in the washroom.

Mrs. Lowe had her back to the door. She heard it open but didn't pay any attention to it until she saw a man come around the corner of the counter with a long knife in his hand.

She described it as "like a butcher's knife."

CLOTH OVER FACE

The man had a brownish-red cloth over the lower part of his face and asked her: "Where is your husband?"

"He's not here," Mrs. Lowe replied.

The man then grabbed her and held the knife at her back, walking her to the rear of the shop. She just had time to notice another man at the main counter.

While she was held at the rear of the shop the second man scooped the money out of the till and she was told: "Stay right here."

BADLY SHAKEN

She stayed—until the men left. Mrs. Lowe called her husband, Quon Lowe and he summoned city police.

"I didn't hear anything," Mr. Lowe said today.

He said his wife was badly shaken by the incident but had now recovered.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Leonie Marie Guadet, 1319 Franklin, $10 for changing lanes without unsafe.

George B. Graham, 735 Queens, $10 for failing to notify change of address.

Frank Tingle, 3171, Metcosh, $10 for no licence plates.

Suffocation Caused Death Of Pedestrian

A six-man coroner's jury today ruled as accidental Greater Victoria's third traffic fatality of 1962.

Exonerated was Mabel Harvey, 1749 Newton, driver of the car in the collision Thursday evening which took the life of pedestrian Ethel Crossley, 82, of 3225 Alder.

Pathologist Dr. Ross McNeely, Royal Jubilee Hospital, described the cause of death as suffocation from upheaval of food from the stomach.

"I can't say she would have survived from her injuries, but she would not have died had she not received them," Dr. McNeely said.

LIGHT ASKED

The jury asked that a flashing red and amber light be placed at the corner of Richmond and Bay, scene of the accident.

Witnesses to the accident— which occurred just after dusk at 7.35 p.m. —agreed Mrs. Crossley was a few feet south of the crosswalk when she was hit.

There was no evidence to believe Mrs. Harvey was driving at a greater speed than the 30 mile per hour limit.

C. Norton Welch, a witness, described the lighting at the intersection as a hindrance, not an aid, to drivers and pedestrians.

"There was a bad glare at the time," he said.

Mrs. Crossley ended up 83 feet from the crosswalk after the collision.

She suffered a broken left leg, a broken right arm, and multiple bruises and abrasions, but apparently remained conscious.

VICTORIA, B.C., TUESDAY, APRIL 17, 1962 -PAGE 17

... HERE ... AND THERE With NORMAN CRIBBENS

He first visited Victoria 18 years ago—yet today he is seeing it for the first time.

This is the touching story of Lt.-Col. Ralph Reed of Bremerton, Washington. In 1944, after being blinded on war service in Europe, he came here with his newly-wedded wife.

They wandered around the city and she described it to him. Today he is back in Victoria with the sight of one eye restored by a miraculous operation.

"It is wonderful," Col. Reed told me. "Now I know why my wife was so enthusiastic about all the lovely things you have here—the gardens, the trees and the stately old Empress."

Col. Reed returned to Victoria as one of 350 delegates to the 22nd annual meeting of the Northwest Public Power Association.

And as we surveyed the warm-scented blooms in the Empress Conservatory, he gave credit to the surgeon who restored his sight—Dr. William Gifford, Omaha, Nebraska.

Dr. Hugh Keenleyside tells of the American schoolgirl who came up here to learn about the Canadian parliamentary system.

In her essay she wrote: "They have a thing called a cabinet composed of ministers. They sit in departments and have nothing to do with the kind of ministers who work in churches and believe in God."

Rebel Mowat, the demon sightseeing driver, nearly became Rebel the barber.

As a boy at South Park School, he started giving haircuts at 25 cents a time.

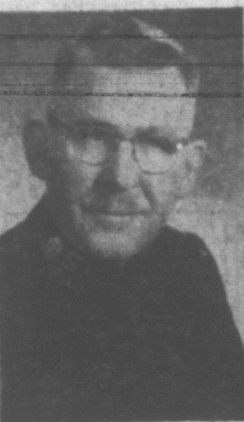

"The mothers didn't like my handiwork at all," he told a reunion of 500 students and teachers.

"They blamed the local barber, but he said he had nothing to do with it—and they traced the haircuts back to me. Boy, what a sorry day that was!"

American visitors are intrigued by the waxwork figures of King Henry VIII and his six wives holding court in the Empress lounge before being moved to the Royal London Wax Museum.

"That King Henry of yours was a darned old sounder," said Art Sanger from Seattle, "but he sure had good taste in women!"

William Enman, manager of the museum, claims the dresses worn by Henry's wives are worth around $750 each.

NEW SUPERINTENDENTS of Matson Lodge Home for elderly people are Brigadier and Mrs. Victor Underhill, the Salvation Army announced today. Home is scheduled to open in June and the Underhills are currently interviewing applicants for tenant and staff positions in temporary headquarters at 771 Pandora. Brig. Underhill was a missionary officer in the Honduras and Mrs. Underhill is a former administrator of Grace Hospital, Vancouver.

Small Increase Set In School Taxation

A negligible school tax increase amounting to two cents for every $1,000 worth of property assessment was announced Monday night.

Greater Victoria School Board said last year's rate would be raised .02 to 17.92 mills this year.

Previously, Education Minister Leslie Peterson said after provincial grants were paid the municipalities would have to put up 19.06 mills for school purposes, a slight drop from last year.

But the federal government will pay more than 1½ mills of this through its $233,328 grant in lieu of taxes on government property here, leaving only the net difference for remaining taxpayers.

Total municipal cost for education will be $3,994,451. Victoria ratepayers still pay the biggest share—46.52 per cent—but it is continually declining as the other areas grow.

Saanich will pay 20.59 per cent. Oak Bay will provide 15.71 per cent. Esquimalt will put up 6.05 per cent. And the unorganized territory of View Royal will cover 2.13 per cent.

Total property assessment in the district rose slightly more than 3 per cent to $222,859,484. Only Victoria showed an assessment drop—about $1,500,000 in all. Increases totaling $3,000,000 for Oak Bay, $3,700,000 for Saanich, $1,200,000 for Esquimalt and $148,000 for View Royal were reported.

SIX MILLS

School District 62 (Sooke) officials indicated their tax rate this year would be about six mills.

School District 63 (Saanich)—which covers the north half of Saanich municipality and the rest of the peninsula—has computed a 17.92 mill rate for this year's operation.

SURVEY SHIPS OFF TO WORK

Two ships of the Canadian Hydrographic service left this morning for their summer's work of charting B.C. coastal waters.

will start her work in the northern portion of Hecate Strait, and will not return to home port until mid-October.

The smaller CGGS Marabell will operate for the first part of the summer in the Active Pass-East Point area, with a later assignment yet to be made.

Aldermen Sound Off on Anti-Noise Bylaw

Aldermen this morning grew somewhat noisy about the procedure for obtaining an anti-noise bylaw.

City solicitor T. P. O'Grady told public works committee that council had power to regulate—set the hours—but not to prohibit offensive noises.

He said each type of noise

generally considered a nuisance would have to be specified in the bylaw, "so that, for instance, power lawn mowers could not be used Sunday mornings until after 11.

He suggested other types of noise that could be controlled would be power tools, jackhammers and diesel trucks.

At this point, aldermen sent up the decibel rating in the committee room.

Ald. M. H. Mooney said the city should draw up a list of objectionable noises and then incorporate them in a bylaw.

"No, no, no," remonstrated Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood. "Let's just find out what kinds of complaints we've had and list those types only."

"There's no point in legislating more than we need; otherwise we'll make this bylaw a joke."

The two aldermen argued the point several minutes before council voted to find out what anti-noise ordinances other municipalities have and what complaints have been received at City Hall.

Don't Need Green Thumb To Enjoy Spring Gardening

By PENNY SAVER

With the sun shining and leaves bursting on the trees, most of us are getting the urge to drop household chores and get busy in the garden. At least I am—even if my thumb isn't very green.

According to one garden authority, chickweed is a special menace right now and he recommends a killer that will do away with not only chickweed, but clover, plantain, poison ivy, brambles and herbaceous weeds.

This concentrated liquid killer, sells at $1.45 for a 10-ounce tin and $2.29 for a 16-ounce tin.

If you live in an outlying district, you may have a problem with deer and rabbits invading your garden. Don't let them get away with it. A spray I've been told about is a real taste repellent for these animals. It's long lasting and resists rainfall. Use it on nursery stock, forestry seedlings, ornamental trees and on fruits and vegetables (until edible portions appear).

For $3.85 for a 32-ounce can, you can discourage deer and rabbits from dining on your plants.

If your potted plants (for indoors) don't seem to be doing too well, chances are the soil they're in is tired. So, why not replant them. I've seen packages of steam sterilized special potting soil that will do the job. A bag of 175 cubic inches sells for 49 cents and a large one containing 700 cubic inches for $1.75.

Possibly you're an impatient gardener and just can't wait for seeds to grow. If this is the case, you really don't have to wait. Healthy plants, ready to be transplanted, are available.

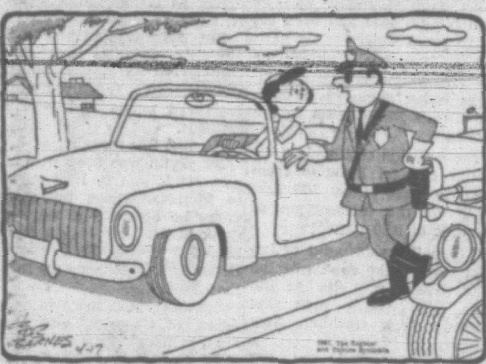

Cabbage and cauliflower, well started, is selling for 45 cents a dozen. Anemone sells, 15 cents each, and pansies two for 25 cents. Lily of the valley (in bud), is selling for 60 cents a clump.

DEAR ABBY ...

It's a Stage of Life!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a waitress, 22, and unmarried. A fat, bald man who must be 50 eats breakfast here every morning. I wait on him in the same pleasant way I wait on others. He has asked me for dates several times, but I have turned him down. Last week he left a $5 tip under his plate. His breakfast was $12.25. I tried to give it back to him the next morning, but he wouldn't take it. He did the same thing again this morning. I feel foolish accepting a $5 tip for nothing. My boss says to keep it. I feel so guilty. What should I do?

TIPPED TOO HIGH. DEAR TIPPED: The old caddy is trying to butter you up. Tell him that you have no intention of dating him (if you really haven't) and excessive tipping won't help. If St. John's Evening Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary, tonight at 7:30, Caroline Macklem Home, 1322 Rockland Ave.

that doesn't slow him down, pocket the money and forget it.

DEAR ABBY: I have three married children, but I hate the term "in-law" and I never call them by "sons-in-law" or my "daughter-in-law." Yet I cannot call them my "son" or "daughter" because it gets too confusing. How can I avoid the "in-law" part when I introduce them to people?

"MOTHER MARY." DEAR MOTHER: You can say, "This is Susie—she is married to my son, Jim."

DEAR ABBY: I am at the end of my rope trying to get rid of a certain man. I never really encouraged him. I only dated him a few times because he was so persistent, and now he won't leave me alone. He phones me every night, and almost every day he sends me one of those crazy cards just to let me know he "loves" me. The worse I treat him, the better he likes it. How do I shake him off once and for all? He is beginning to give me the creeps already.

OVER 21. DEAR OVER: Tell him in plain language that you do not want to take up any more of his time, and please to stop calling and sending cards. Don't be afraid of "hurting" him. A man who thrives on abuse and keeps coming back for more is too insensitive to get the message.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "B": Give her a long, hard second look. It's easier to get rid of a girl friend than a wife. And a whole lot cheaper.

Stop worrying. Let Abby help you with that problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

It's tradition to serve ham for Easter meals. To give it a delectable touch top it with a glaze that is different.

Peaches 'n' Honey on Easter Ham

It is just about time to begin planning the glaze and garnish for your Easter ham. You will want a decoration that is spring-like, gay as the Easter bonnet, and at the time easily prepared. Being free to spend the day with family and friends is important on this, one of our most cherished of holidays.

Peaches 'n' Honey Style Ham helps us to celebrate in a festive way with a minimum of fuss. Your dinner will be a pleasure to prepare when you choose one of Canada's favorite hams bearing the two most trusted words in meat. The hams selected to carry these words have been brown sugar cured and lazily smoked over true hardwood fires for that really distinctive flavor.

For modern convenience many homemakers prefer the fully cooked short shank style ham. These may be jelly-glazed and served without further cooking or simply heated to 130 deg. F internal temperature. Those who like to bake their own will select the cook-before-eating ham, which is heated to 160 deg. F internal temperature on a roast meat thermometer.

Whatever style you choose, the ham should be refrigerated at 38 deg. to 40 deg. F to retain fine quality and flavor, and should be used within seven days. It is not recommended that hams be frozen because freezing causes rapid flavor deterioration in cured meats.

Place ham on a rack in a low sided oven pan. Heat in a slow oven (325 deg. F). Insert a roast meat thermometer for accurate test of doneness.

Weight of Ham Fully Cooked	Approximate Heating Time	Internal Temperature as indicated on roast meat thermometer
6-pound piece	2 1/2 hours	130° F
10-pound piece	2 1/2 hours	130° F
12-pound piece	3 hours	130° F

10-pound piece	3 1/2 hours	160° F
12-pound piece	4 hours	160° F
15-pound piece	4 1/2 hours	160° F

Drizzle 1/2 cup of honey over surface of ham. Place drained canned peach halves around ham. Spoon a teaspoonful of honey into each peach half. Return ham to oven to brown, glaze and complete baking. Serve ham with peaches 'n' honey.

Having Tummy Trouble? Try These Two Exercises

A reader recently wrote: "Please—in the rescue, Mrs. Lowman. I want back my flat abdomen."

Here's my answer: Women go around, around, around.

And here or there may gain a pound.

And it is there for all to see. They gain the most where you told me!

So many women have lovely figures except for a protruding abdomen.

This may be due to fat because a woman is overweight, or the cause may be lax muscles, or a combination of both may be responsible. In any case, abdominal exercises are essential for best results.

They use calories and stretch the fatty deposits. Also, fat is not so apt to accumulate over active muscles.

If you are overweight generally, you will have to count calories, as well as exercise. If you are the correct weight, the following exercise will tighten up the slack in your abdominal muscles and redistribute your weight more attractively.

Lie on the floor on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor. Raise both legs halfway to a right angle position with the floor with stiff knees.

Slowly lower your legs a few inches. Hold for a few seconds.

Again lower the legs a few more inches. Hold. Continue until your legs reach the floor.

If you would like to have my tested abdominal exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with our request for leaflet No. 2 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Map Shows Location of Prayer Partners; One in New Zealand

At a meeting of the diocesan board of the Anglican Women's Auxiliary, held in St. Paul's Church, Esquimalt, Mrs. F. C. Vaughan-Birch, prayer partner secretary, showed a map with places marked in which there are prayer partners, one as far away as New Zealand.

Mrs. B. P. Harding presided and Miss Jane Leigh, Dorcas secretary, announced that sewing and hospital supplies must be in by the first week in May; that oddsments of print and sewing materials are needed for Indian women to make articles for their bazaars, and that knitting wool is needed for Cambridge Bay and Fort McPherson.

Treasurer, Mrs. F. A. Goodwin, announced receipts of $3,236.37 for the past two months; disbursements of $7,578.67, leaving a balance of $13,848.26. Legacy fund totals $13,407.16 and the care of the elderly fund, $2,094.17.

Juniors secretary, Mrs. L. Small, announced that St. Mary's, Metchoin, branch had reorganized and that rallies are planned at Cowichan and Comox in May.

NEW GUILD
Plans were made for a meeting in Memorial Hall lounge on May 7 at 2 p.m., to form a guild for the Caroline Macklem Home. Miss Kathleen Ironside, who left Victoria on Sunday for Toronto to be assistant to Miss Mary Rendell, Dominion secretary of the WA, was presented with a gift. Miss Ironside has worked in this diocese for three years.

Other reports were given by Mrs. H. E. Hubbard, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H. P. Ballantyne, who announced a sum of $92.41 in the extra cents fund; Mrs. T. C. Griffiths, united thank offering; Mrs. N. W. Life, educational; Mrs. S. G. Hultford, Living Message; Mrs. H. J. Newnham, youth department and Little Helpers; Mrs. T. M. Hughes, candidates, and Mrs. C. Whipple who turned over $51.73 to the hospitality fund, from luncheons served at the annual meeting.

Prayers and scripture reading were taken by Rev. J. A. Roberts, Miss E. Tuckett and Mrs. C. Flewold. President of St. Paul's WA, Mrs. J. Smith, welcomed the 108 members present. Guest speaker, Miss Dorothea Henslowe, described her work as a missionary in New Guinea, and showed a series of pictures.

Mrs. George R. Peakes and Mrs. H. E. Sexton were named honorary presidents and Mrs. R. O. Taylor and Mrs. C. Gardiner, honorary vice-presidents.

Dawson Creek Is Waiting For Spring—and the 'Peace'

By ELIZABETH FORBES

"I always bow to the first blade of green grass I see in the spring," Ann Matheson told me when I talked to her in Dawson Creek, recently.

Looking around, I could understand why a pretty young school teacher would wish to perform such a ritual.

Snow was still thick on the hills and lying heaped in slippery piles in the streets.

It had been there a long time. And, while every citizen in Dawson Creek, including Ann, knew its worth in moisture for the year's grain crops, they were eager to see it melt and disappear.

"Then the hills will turn green and new leaves will appear on the cottonwoods and the willows," Ann said.

She drew a deep breath, closed her eyes in anticipation and almost whispered: "The tiny leaves come so quickly they bring with them their own perfume. You can actually smell this leaf scent in the air."

"When you do, it's spring in Dawson Creek."

With spring comes the rich growth that has made that city and the countryside around it, renowned the world over for its grain.

Neat, well-planned and named (according to legend) because an early settler called Dawson, pre-empted land on a creek now within its borders, the town drowsed its early years away, while the golden grain grew and ripened in the fertile soil and brought the settlers prizes in world competition.

Until it was decided in 1942-43 to build the Alaska Highway as a joint defence project.

Chosen as Mile Zero for this mighty outlet to the north, the town was soon invaded by the road builders (army personnel from the United States and both Canadian and American civilians), followed by all the paraphernalia of machinery and men that go with road building on such a huge scale.

Where the golden grain had rippled in the breeze along the hillside, bunkhouses appeared overnight. The main street echoed and re-echoed to the shouts and the heel taps of strangers.

Many Started Business in Tents

With increased population and a big new payroll came men and women who were willing to take a chance on this new frontier life by opening stores, hotels and restaurants.

Many of them started business in tents thrown up in the fields on the outskirts of the town.

"And near a well, if we could manage it," one shopkeeper told me, "for the water situation was bad."

"My husband and I got into town one morning; arranged with a farm woman to rent a part of one of her fields near her well; pitched two tents that afternoon and were in business the next morning."

Victorians On Provincial IODE Board

Mrs. Owen P. Fowler, Victoria, was elected second vice-president of Provincial Chapter, IODE, at the 49th annual meeting in Vancouver. Mrs. V. H. V. Sheppard, Victoria was elected fourth vice-president.

Other Victorians: IODE members named to provincial offices are Mrs. A. H. C. Phipps, Echoes; Mrs. W. R. Freethy, immigration and citizenship convener; Mrs. Peter Bell, Mrs. Thomas Lumsden, Mrs. J. L. Gates and Mrs. A. Warren Smith, councillors.

Mrs. G. H. Swainston, Sidney, and Mrs. V. C. Best, Ganges, were also elected among the 30 councillors.

Mrs. R. R. Shortreed, Vancouver, is the new president.

Plan Luncheon

The Ripon Road home of Mrs. W. G. Flett, president of the St. Margaret's School Old Girls' Association, was scene of a recent coffee party when members met to plan the annual reunion luncheon to be held in May. White carnations and blue candles in silver candelabra decorated the refreshment table. Special guests included Mrs. W. D. Cobbett, school headmistress; Mrs. W. R. Thompson and Mrs. E. A. McGowan, representatives of the parents' auxiliary. Also present were Mrs. A. K. Love, vice-president; Mrs. Irving, secretary; Mrs. R. R. Wilde and the Misses Dana Thompson, Jennifer Lockyer and Sara Hughes.

Luncheon in Union Club

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sword of Toronto were guests of honor today at a luncheon in the Union Club arranged by the University of Toronto Alumni, Victoria branch. Col. C. R. Boelma, president of the branch acted as host. Mr. Sword is executive assistant to Mr. Claude Bissell, president of the University of Toronto.

Say 'Bon Voyage'

A bon voyage luncheon was held recently in the Imperial Motor Hotel dining room to honor Mrs. Olive Bachelor who leaves shortly on an extended world trip. Those attending were Mrs. Dan Barr, Mrs. Alex Bell, Mrs. George Sherwood, Mrs. Arthur Saunders, Mrs. M. Sargeant, also the following group from Vancouver, Mrs. Neil Grant, Mrs. Jack McCreadie, Mrs. Bill Mitchell and Mrs. Don Gillis. The honor guest was presented with a gardenia corsage and a travel diary.

Before Dance

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Robinson entertained at a cocktail party in their Rowley Road home prior to attending the wind-up dance of the Cadboro Bay Badminton Club last Saturday evening. Invited were Mr. and Mrs. John Skillings, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. William Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. N. Wolfe.

Bridal Shower

May bride-elect Miss Jill Shepard was honored at a shower given by Miss Susan Hopwood in the Chapman St. home of her parents. A corsage of roses was present to the guest of honor and pink carnations and heather on corsage to her mother, Mrs. B. Shepard, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. F. E. Hopwood. Invited guests included Mrs. R. Barrie, Mrs. E. Thompson, Mrs. D. Burt, Mrs. A. Hopley, Mrs. E. Hamilton, Mrs. R. Sinkinson, Mrs. K. Soltice, Mrs. S. R. Steele and the Misses Wendy Burdon and Jackie Shepard.

In Montreal

Miss Leanne Lloyd Jones left Victoria last weekend to travel to Montreal where she will train as an air hostess with Trans-Canada Air Lines. Prior to her leaving she was honored at a party given by her mother, Mrs. L. Lloyd Jones, in their home on Zela Street.

Engaged

The engagement is announced between Bonnie Verley, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon B. Footner of Royal Oak and Mr. Pero Bacica, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Bacica of Zagreb, Yugoslavia. The marriage will take place in St. Michael's and All Angels Church at Royal Oak on Saturday, May 19, at 7 p.m., with Canon J. Rogers officiating.

Doctor Urges Colleagues To Work With Government

MONTREAL (CP) — There should be no conflict of interest between the medical profession and the government under a state-supported system of health insurance, says one of Canada's leading physicians.

Dr. P. H. T. Thorlakson of Winnipeg told the royal commission on health services Monday doctors must be prepared to work with government "to ward a common end."

Considered an expert on the subject Dr. Thorlakson defined group practice as an arrangement whereby physicians and surgeons — or both — combine their knowledge, experience and training for the benefit of their patients. Group practices have been formed in numerous Canadian centres. There are many different types.

Dr. Thorlakson, described by Saskatchewan's Chief Justice Emmett Hall, as commission chairman, as one of the outstanding physicians in the country, said government financial assistance under a comprehensive medical care plan should be based on "a flexible scale according to need."

The plan should concentrate on helping those unable to pay their medical expenses, rather than seek to solve the country's entire health problem "in one fell swoop."

Gorge Park Improvement Under Study

Saanich council Monday referred to the parks committee a proposal of the Saanich advisory commission for improvements to Gorge Park.

Council decided to ask the committee to look into the possibility of making the park a more attractive place after rejecting the Sherwood Forest commercial development proposed for Gorge Park.

While the park is city-owned, it is situated in Saanich and comes under the zoning jurisdiction of the municipality.

CLEAR BRUSH

The advisory commission suggested that Saanich clear away the brush from the park and erect seats with a view of the reversible falls.

Bulb planting among the trees and grading and seeding adjacent to the sidewalks were also recommended by the commission.

Town planner Tony Parr said the park is not being used by the public because it has been "allowed to go downhill."

Mr. Parr felt commercial development in the park would affect the entire residential Gorge district.

He backed a planning commission recommendation that the city be asked to "dedicate"

TENDERS FOR REPAIR ITEMS

"ZONING BY-LAW 1962, AMENDMENT BY-LAW (No. 65), 1962"

CITY OF VICTORIA

NOTICE OF HEARING

Notice is hereby given that all persons desiring to object to or appeal from any provision of the proposed "Zoning By-Law 1962 Amendment By-Law (No. 65), 1962," will be afforded an opportunity to be heard on the matters contained therein, before the City Council, at a public hearing to be held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, on Monday, April 16th, 1962, at 10:00 a.m.

Copy of the proposed By-Law may be inspected at the office of the undersigned between the hours of 9:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. on Monday to Friday inclusive (exclusive of "Good Friday" and "Easter Monday").

The said By-Law provides for ONLY the following:

Section 1 and 2: The rezoning from "Two-Family" to "Limited Commercial" of Am. Parcel A of Lots 18-20, Suburban Lot 15 (No. 1526 Cook Street) at Cook Street, (Case of Mrs. Margaret Newman).

Sections 3 and 4: The rezoning from "Multiple Dwelling" to "Two-Family" of all the properties in the area bounded by Pembroke, Forbes, Denison and Victor Streets, (Case of Dr. Bursley et al.).

Section 7: The amendment of the zoning resolution to provide that "C-1 Limited Commercial" zones no commodity, merchandise, stock-in-trade or other material shall be stored or displayed at any place within areas described in the zoning resolution and bylaws.

Section 8: The amendment of the definition of "gas or service station" to provide that it shall not include "any uses not directly related to the automotive."

M. F. HUNTER, City Clerk.

VIEW CONFLICTS

Dr. Thorlakson's statements concerning co-operation between government and the medical profession grew out of a portion of his brief, which included the following as one advantage which group practice holds for the physician:

"The elimination of the direct monetary relationship between doctor and patient, and the availability of competent business management to assist in these relationships."

This point conflicted with the expressed view of many medical organizations that the direct monetary link should be retained as part of the doctor-patient relationship.

Answering questions about third-party payment under a state-supported plan, Dr. Thorlakson said:

"The source of money should not affect the quality of medical practice one iota providing the money does not come from a monopoly, and particularly a government monopoly in a government-dominated plan."

Doctors must be prepared to play their part in partnership with government, "not as an opposing force but as a force working toward a common end. There should be no conflict of interest here."

Local Girls Ride High at Haney Show

A Mount Douglas High School girl, riding in her first year as a senior, won high honors at the first B.C. horse show of the year on the weekend.

Pat Donaldson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ved Donaldson, 1536 Arrow Road, rode the family thoroughbred, Hindu Punch, to top aggregate hunter points at the Maple Ridge Riding Centre hunter-jumper show at Haney.

Eighteen-year-old Pat took Hindu Punch to the top in the working hunter course and in the hunter hack class. They placed second in open confirmation hunter.

They were competing against some of the finest riders and horses in the Vancouver and Fraser Valley areas.

Another Victoria girl, also in her first year as a senior, made an excellent showing with two entries. Jean Dunbar, daughter of Mrs. Joan Dunbar, 1007 Joan Crescent, rode Seven-Up to victory in the small hunter division, was second in hunter hack, and fourth in open jumping. For this teamwork they received the reserve champion hunter award.

Riding her second horse, Trader, Miss Dunbar placed third in the working hunter class.

Victory Yard Wins Contract On Navy Barge

McKay-Cormack Ltd., Kingston Street, has been awarded a contract by the Department of Defence production to build a 36-foot, aluminum-hulled, self-propelled barge for use in the RCN Pacific Command.

The company submitted a low tender of about $42,000.

Capt. George Veres, managing director, said the work will take about four months, and be useful in tidying the yard over the usual slack summer period.

At present, it is at full capacity with spring refits the mainstay.

The aluminum barge will be added to the equipment of HMCS Cape Breton, fleet maintenance vessel serving the Second and Fourth Canadian Escort Squadrons.

450 Inspect St. Laurent At Dockyard

Sunny weather Sunday drew over 450 visitors to the RCN destroyer-escort St. Laurent which held an "open house" at HMC Dockyard.

Navy officials said today they were pleased with the success of the day and predicted bigger crowds in the future.

Rain was blamed for a small crowd Saturday when only 109 visited the ship.

Next weekend the navy plans to berth the destroyer escort HMCS Fraser in the Inner Harbor and all visitors will be welcome between 1:30 and 4:15 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

April 28 and 29 the frigate Antigone will take over "open house" duties and other ships of the Pacific Command will rotate throughout the summer.

Labor Leaders From Malaya Coming Here

A five-man delegation of union leaders from Malaya and Singapore will visit Victoria labor unions and local industry in a two-day stay here this week.

They are on a tour of Canadian cities to find out how the workingman lives, works and conducts his union affairs, and are fresh from sessions of the Canadian Labor Congress constitutional convention in Vancouver last week.

The men are A. Kumaran, industrial relations officer for the Johore state branch of the National Union of Plantation Workers; Gopal Pillai, president of the Municipal Services Union; S. Kannappan, Union of Postal Workers; Lim Kim Hian, secretary of the Singapore Bank Employees' Union, and Larry Kwek, secretary of the Petroleum Workers of the Petroleum Industry.

The men will be taken to the plywood mill at B.C. Forest Products, and attend a session of Victoria Labor Council Wednesday, and on Thursday are due to meet with representatives of the department of labor.

Shah Will Be There

Take Me to Naden Or I'll Kill You

Story of a wild car ride along Esquimalt Road March 15 was told in city police court Monday when a young sailor went on trial on charges of intimidation, common assault and being drunk in a public place.

The sailor, Patrick H. Newman of HMCS Jonquiere, is defended by lawyer David Hummel.

Alan Boyd, 355 Richmond, said Newman approached him on the evening of March 15—a week after he had left the navy—and grabbed him around the neck.

Boyd said for a minute he thought he was joking but then Newman pushed him to the side of a building on Yates Street and struck him twice and told him to drive him to HMCS Naden.

Although he refused Newman pushed him towards his car parked on Broad Street and forced his way into the passenger seat.

The sailor, Boyd claimed, said: "Take me back to Naden or I'll kill you."

Boyd said Newman threatened him again when he drove up outside the city police station on Fisgard Street.

He said as he drove across Johnson Street bridge Newman said, "Let's go," trod on the gas pedal and grabbed hold of the steering wheel.

The car swerved, sideswiped a car travelling in the opposite direction and near the junction with Alston collided with two others.

Newman jumped out of the car started shouting that I was the driver, shouted out the car's licence number and then began directing traffic," Boyd said.

He said he thought Newman had been drinking but was not drunk.

Boyd told prosecutor Angus Smith he had been discharged from the navy because he was medically unfit—he had undergone major stomach surgery in 1961.

He estimated his own weight at 138 pounds and his height at five feet six inches.

He told Mr. Hummel he did not know that Newman was an RCN lighthouse weight boxing champion.

Cons. Murray MacArthur said when he arrived at the scene of the multi-collision he found Boyd "very upset" and Newman directing traffic but he "was not doing a very good job."

He said Newman didn't deny

'Up to Congress,' Says Carpenter

By AB KENT

Next move in a nation-wide dispute involving the 60,000-member carpenters' union and Canadian Labor Congress must be made by the congress, a carpenters' officer said Saturday.

E. T. Staley, of Victoria, secretary of the provincial council of carpenters, said carpenters had gone "a long way toward settling" a fight between them and the International Woodworkers of America, "and the next move is up to the Canadian Labor Congress."

Soviet Bride Asks U.K. to Annul Marriage

LONDON (AP) — A Russian war bride has asked Britain's High Court to set aside its 12-year-old annulment of her marriage to a former British embassy staff officer who now has an English wife and three children.

The application has been received from Moscow from Natasha Whitehead, who married Capt. Clifford Whitehead in 1945 when she was a telephone operator at the embassy where he served as signal officer.

Whitehead recalled home that same year, but Soviet officials refused to let his bride leave the country. Instead they sent her to a labor camp where she served seven years, apparently for marrying a Briton.

In London, Whitehead worked for her release but all appeals to Soviet authorities failed. In 1950, he went before the High Court and was granted a decree annulling the marriage.

He married again soon after and today is a well-to-do accountant with a family.

British legal authorities said Natasha's application will be heard soon by three High Court judges. Whether the Soviet government will let her come to London for the hearing is not known, but there are no objections on the British side.

"So far as we are concerned," said a foreign office spokesman, "she has permission to come to this country."

Mackie Gets Satellite's Cloud Maps

Cloud maps based on photographs transmitted from the United States Tires IV weather satellite eventually will help in predicting Victoria's weather.

William Mackie, officer in charge at the city weather office in Gonzales Observatory, said today the maps are being received here, "a little erratically," but are only the beginning of what will be even more complete weather coverage.

100 COUNTRIES

It was announced from Washington, D.C., on the weekend that the U.S. weather bureau will make the Tires IV maps available by radio facsimile to more than 100 countries, including the Soviet Union, on a two-month trial basis. The program will be continued if the foreign weather services show they can put the information to significant use.

"They have sent me a map showing a swath across the Pacific from Asia to North America, and between latitudes 40 and 50," he said. "Until now the only sources of information about that area have been our weather ship and other ships at sea. This new service will be a great deal of help in locating weather systems."

GET BETTER

He said the most up-to-date map he has is a day late, but he expects the service to improve.

"Right now we can use the information to either confirm or deny our forecasts," he said. "These maps also will help pilots flying ocean voyages. They will have a good idea of what to expect."

Tires IV orbits at between 400 and 450 miles, he said. Information on the April 15 map he received today was taken from its 63rd orbit.

Are Some Dogs Naturally Shy?

Yes. Some dogs mature later than others; some never get over a fear of strange places; still others, like some humans, become ill at ease in the presence of unknown dogs. Then, too, some unfortunate dogs are neither fish nor fowl because of feministic traits caused by hormonal imbalance.

CLINIC: Q. My boy friend bought me the cutest Collie dog for my birthday. He's a beautiful dog and very friendly—but I'm certain something is wrong with him. He's very clumsy and bumps into things. I have the impression that he doesn't see too well. Is there anything that can be done?

Miss R. I. R., Tucson
A. Collies, unfortunately, seem to suffer from a number of eye diseases, and blindness at an early age is not uncommon. Have your veterinarian examine your dog without delay.

CLINIC: Q. My son bought a white mouse about a year ago which he keeps in a cage in his room. I don't like the mouse at all. I must admit, but I promised my son he could get and keep this one, and a promise is a promise. But tell me, are white mice long-lived animals?

Mrs. M. K. A., North Hollywood
A. Have patience, Mrs. M. K. A. The life span of white mice is 2 to 2½ years. Since you can't fight it, why not give your son's pet a chance and join in on the fun your son's having? White mice make very friendly pets.

CLINIC: Q. My Chihuahua, Millie, has a tiny soft spot at the top of her head. I can actually feel a hole in the skull through the skin. Is this dangerous? What treatment do you suggest?

Miss H. B. R., Lincoln, N.M.
A. I suggest you do nothing. The Chihuahua is one breed that literally is born with a hole in the head. It's due to an incomplete closure of the bones of the skull, and is fairly common in this breed. In medical language, it's called a Fontanelle. The treatment? Forget it. Millie doesn't mind it; don't let it bother you.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—The editor of an Italian magazine was offered an "exclusive interview" with Elizabeth Taylor by a reputable writer in Rome with special access to Liz, and he replied, "No, thanks, we're no longer interested. She's getting dull." The hot rumors that Joan Crawford has practically crawled one of the richest guys in the world right down the aisle will be denied, but you never know, you never know, and what a story that would be!

Great big battle backstage at "Night of the Iguana" with Patrick O'Neal wanting better billing, clashing with Shelley Winters, Tennessee Williams, etc. They had a "true lunch-eon"—and when Williams had to leave, O'Neal arose, and toppled the table into everybody's lap—so things aren't so good again, hardly.

Smart line about a theatrical figure with suddenly pearly teeth: "Caps! He's got caps on his caps!" Jack Carter told a crowd previewing his movie, "Horizontal Lieutenant," that he and Paula Carter have rented four apartments just to make sure they have one. "Now," said Jack, "she can go home to her mother all over town." When Dickie Burton was doing his airplaning, some French kids sat behind him on the plane and pulled his long hair, and he just loved it. Headline: "Sibyl Adores Liz." Oh, sure, and Mr. K is just nuts about JFK!

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Carol Burnett'll do the tour solo she was supposed to do with Julie Andrews (till Julie became pregnant). UA figures the Oscar award'll add five million to the "West Side Story" take. Duo at Erika's: Kim Novak and Peter Duchin. Comics Marty Allen and Steve Rossi will be among the "prizes" awarded on a "Price Is Right" TV're.

Blind pianist George Shearing turned down a convict's offer to donate his eyes—medics assured him it wouldn't be helpful. Julie Newmar's up for a TV panel show, "Alter Ego." When Marjorie Lord goes to Europe in May to film the "Danny Thomas show" she'll be with her TV husband—Danny—and her real life husband, Randolph Hale. Eway Buzz: There's hassling backstage at the forthcoming show, "Infidel Caesar."

EARL'S PEARLS: A Broadwayite's idea of an outdoor man is a guy who sits on his terrace while watching baseball on TV.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Comic Jackie Kannon says he has three little ones at home—two children and a foreign car.

Carries 200 Pounds Easily

For his size, the llama is one of the best looking animals in the world: He can carry a burden of maybe 200 pounds with ease and he can carry it up and down the steepest of slopes, for he is a very sure-footed animal. If he is feeling fine, he usually travels 12 to 15 miles a day.

Only Mr. Llama is used for toll. Mrs. Llama is a pampered darling whose only job is to bring up junior. The little fellow is always an only child, for Mama has only one baby at a time. For the first three years of his life, he is tenderly cared for and educated by his mother and the various aunts in the llama herd. When he is big and strong enough to work for a living he is taken to join his Papa and carry his loads along with the other pack animals.

The family history of the camels is one of the most fascinating stories in the animal world. Their original home, some 50 million years ago, was in North America and their ancestors looked very much like the llama. Some left for Asia and Africa and became the big camels of the desert. The llamas and their cousins went south to live on the slopes of the lofty Andes. When the white men came, all the original camels had gone from North America.

Africans Link Trade

ACCRA, Ghana (Reuters)—Casablanca powers — Ghana, Guinea, Mali, Morocco, the United Arab Republic and the Algerian provisional government—set up an African Common Market "a few days ago," Ghana Finance Minister F. K. D. Goka has reported.

ask Andy

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Chris Hayes, age 10, of Montgomery, Ala., for his question:

What Kind of Animal Is the Llama?

The Spaniards found the llama when they reached the slopes of the high Andes mountains. They thought he might be some kind of sheep or goat. But they never had seen an animal quite like him. For the llama never has lived anywhere except in the New World of the Americas. What's more, the Spaniards were quite wrong about him, for he is not related to either sheep or goats.

The first thing you notice about the llama is his hoity-toity expression. When at home, he looks down on the world from the high slopes of the Andes in South America. And perhaps he has some reason to feel superior. The famous Incas of Peru used him to carry their burdens and without him they never could have been such wonderful farmers. To this very day, in fact, mining in the steep Andes would be impossible without his help. If someone told you that this dignified animal was a camel, you hardly would believe them. He has no hump on his back. He has no special stomach for carrying water to last him through several days. What's more, he is only four feet tall and his proud little head is no higher than a camel's stomach. Nevertheless, he is a member of the family Camelidae and he is actually more like the ancestors of all the camel family than the big camels of Asia and Africa.

The llama has the same soft, silky kind of hair as his big camel cousins. He also has a camel-type foot, with two wide, softly padded toes. And he walks with a camel-style stride — two right feet, then two left feet. This graceful swinging walk adds to the little llama's dignity.

ISLAND DIGEST

Victoria Daily Times TUES., APRIL 17, 1962 31

PUBLICITY CHIEF:

'Treasure Island' Paying Dividends

Publicity bureau director William Hawkins Monday showed himself an unashamed "Treasure Island" man.

Answering criticism that the city's traditional tourist slogan of "Follow the Birds to Victoria" had been downgraded, he said the new slogan advertising all of Vancouver Island as "Canada's Treasure Island" had paid off.

He said the number of tourists had more than tripled since the new slogan was adopted, rising from 301,421 in 1959 to 950,000 last year.

"The slogan, 'Follow the Birds' is still being used but in the final analysis, with the present provincial government set-up for dollar-matching grants, this bureau was named the agency by the provincial government to handle the promotion for all the Island.

"Unless we do advertise all the Island we are not eligible for the matching grant, which this year will amount to some $30,000.

"This combined financial effort has permitted us, for the first time, to develop proper advertising programs in such important media as Holiday, Sunset, Westways and other magazines, which has been mainly responsible for drawing attention to Canada's Treasure Island and thereby increasing our tourist business."

Princess Elaine has served on many of the coast services, including the triangle run and the Vancouver-Gulf Islands—Powell River service.

Elaine Up For Sale

The venerable coast steamer Princess Elaine, last of the CPR's lone line of three stackers, is officially up for sale.

The company announced Tuesday bids would be considered through the firm of Tatham, Bromage Co. Ltd., Bishopgate, London, acting for Maple Shipping Co., London.

The 35-year-old ship has been tied up at the CPR Belleville Street docks since September, 1960, when she was taken off the Nanaimo-Vancouver run.

Princess Elaine has served on many of the coast services, including the triangle run and the Vancouver-Gulf Islands—Powell River service.

Carpenter Split Only Temporary

NANAIMO — Split between the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners and the Canadian Labor Council will be a temporary one, according to B.C. CCF-New Democratic Leader Robert Strachan.

Mr. Strachan said he feels the carpenters will continue to support the NDP as they have in the past.

"This is only an internal matter—a dispute over jurisdiction which will soon be ironed out," he said.

DUNCAN—Livestock breeders on Vancouver Island are feeling the effect of not having a government-inspected slaughter house on the island, according to A. W. T. Evans, director of the Cowichan Agricultural Society.

He told a meeting here that since tainted meat was discovered on the Toronto market, island chain stores have been buying Federally-inspected meat handled by Vancouver Island packers.

In the past, the stores acquired their meat from local farmers.

He gave one example of the effect of the change.

In order to sell to local chain stores, he said, farmers have to ship their lambs for the Easter market to Vancouver at a loss up to 20 cents a pound.

CAMPBELL RIVER—Rodrick Haig-Brown, local magistrate, author and conservationist will be speaker at the Northwest National Recreation Association and Parks Conference in Vancouver on April 29.

Local sports director Eric Smith and recreation association president Bruce Saunders will attend the conference.

COURTENAY—A request to amend the store closing hour bylaw was rejected by city council Monday night.

The request, originated by Canada Safeway Ltd., asked that store closing hours be extended to allow six-day shopping the year round. Safeway and Overwaitea Ltd. have been granted special permission to remain open Wednesday afternoons for the past two years.

COURTENAY—City prosecutor Terrance G. Ryan has been appointed deputy magistrate for the city of Courtenay.

An order-in-council, effective April 24, named Mr. Ryan to succeed the late A. J. Taylor. Coroner T. A. Menzies has been acting deputy magistrate.

COURTENAY—City council is desperately trying to reduce its budget by the $19,000 necessary to retain last year's 42 mill tax rate.

In the first and second readings of the budget Monday night, 18,347 mills were allocated for schools, 5,274 mills for debt, and 18,379 for general expenses.

However, if these rates are to be used, council must reduce its expenditures by $19,000.

School expenses, although they comprise a major part of city expenditures, are $23,589 less than anticipated. The proposed budget allowed $138,000 for schools costs which have now been set at $114,411.

Another bylaw calling for radical changes in zoning, was given its first and second readings.

A zoning bylaw, recommended by a city planning commission, regulates the use of types of buildings and divides the city into residential, tourist, industrial and high and low intensity commercial areas.

Although the bylaw is based on planning commission recommendations, some changes have been made. A tourist area recommended by the commission has been expanded to include all of Cliff Street from the city limits to the commercial area near the city centre.

Industries will be confined to the east side of the Courtenay River along the Dyke Road.

of types of buildings and divides the city into residential, tourist, industrial and high and low intensity commercial areas.

Although the bylaw is based on planning commission recommendations, some changes have been made. A tourist area recommended by the commission has been expanded to include all of Cliff Street from the city limits to the commercial area near the city centre.

Industries will be confined to the east side of the Courtenay River along the Dyke Road.

COURTENAY—City council is desperately trying to reduce its budget by the $19,000 necessary to retain last year's 42 mill tax rate.

In the first and second readings of the budget Monday night, 18,347 mills were allocated for schools, 5,274 mills for debt, and 18,379 for general expenses.

However, if these rates are to be used, council must reduce its expenditures by $19,000.

School expenses, although they comprise a major part of city expenditures, are $23,589 less than anticipated. The proposed budget allowed $138,000 for schools costs which have now been set at $114,411.

Another bylaw calling for radical changes in zoning, was given its first and second readings.

SPRING REPLACES FIERCE BLIZZARD

HALIFAX (CP) — Spring-like weather returned to the Maritimes today after a blinding blizzard dumped a foot of snow over a wide area Monday.

The Isthmus of Chignecto, a narrow neck of low-lying land linking Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, appeared to be hardest hit. Winds of 60 miles an hour and the snow made highways impassable and knocked out power and telephone lines.

During the worst of the storm road, rail and air traffic was disrupted.

The storm particularly caught Prince Edward Island with its guard down. Most island snow removal gear had been dismantled and crews hustled to get gear back in shape to clear drifts that in places had blown up to six feet high.

BY ARMS CONFERENCE

U.S., Russian Draft Adopted

GENEVA (Reuters) — The 17-nation disarmament conference today adopted virtually all of a Russo-American draft preamble for a treaty on general and complete disarmament.

In another development, the United States and Britain asked questions about the new nuclear weapons test-ban plan advanced Monday by the neutral delegations.

The draft acted on today was prepared by Arthur Dean and Valerian Zorin, the American and Soviet conference vice-chairman, respectively, during a series of private meetings.

All of the draft except one paragraph and a few words elsewhere in the preamble were adopted.

Diplomatic observers said this was the first time in the history of postwar East-West negotiations that such an important document had been adopted virtually in full.

PLAN MORE TALKS
Dean and Zorin are to have further discussions on the draft preamble.

The closed-door conference decided provisionally to have a four-day Easter recess, from Thursday night until Tuesday morning.

During the discussion Zorin was reported to have said "Easter has its tidings for us and we should bear that in mind."

The Soviet delegate did not expand on this but said later that "final decision on a recess should be postponed for grave matters confront us."

The next conference session is Wednesday.

On the test ban proposal of the eight neutral countries here, Dean advanced 13 questions that he said were designed to seek clarification on "basic matters which go to the heart of the control system which is contemplated."

STUDY INSPECTION PLAN
The U.S. questions covered vital problems connected with the spacing of international control posts, on-site international inspection and the renunciation of any future treaty banning nuclear tests in the event one of its signers refused to co-operate.

While the proposed commission would process all data received from an agreed system of observation points, the plan did not advocate the kind of automatic, on-site inspection which the West has been seeking and which Russia rejects.

Dean said today that the new proposals alluded to the establishment of a system for control "on a purely scientific non-political basis." The United States could not agree more with this, he said.

Dief's Stand
Plases JFK

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Kennedy today expressed gratification with a statement made by Prime Minister Diefenbaker opposing an indefinite, unpoliced moratorium on nuclear testing.

Arnold Heeney, who retires as Canadian ambassador next week, said the president referred to the prime minister's statement during a 20-minute farewell meeting at the White House.

"The president said the statement was very helpful," Heeney reported in an interview later.

—SHE 'LIKED THE ODDS'

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mae West made a surprise visit Monday night to a Friar's Club stag testimonial and wiggled off with the show.

She was the only woman among the top comics and songwriters, who gathered to pay tribute to Harry Richman, a show business great.

Near the end of the show, Mae, with her famous strut, ambled onto the platform and sexily glanced over the house.

"I like the odds," she quipped. "Wall to wall men."

Mae recalled that Richman got his start in show business as her piano player in 1922.

"I don't remember, Harry, if I discovered you or you discovered me, but I do remember you had a great touch."

Then with a swirl of her hips and a typical Western innuendo, she added: "Even with a piano."

Then Mae, who admits to 69, but looks years younger, wiggled off to a chorus of wolf whistles — even from some too young to remember.

Sex appeal, she proved, knows no age limit if properly packaged.

Her surprise appearance, tradition-breaking at Friar stag testimonials, so shook up Richman that he forgot to sing when his turn came.

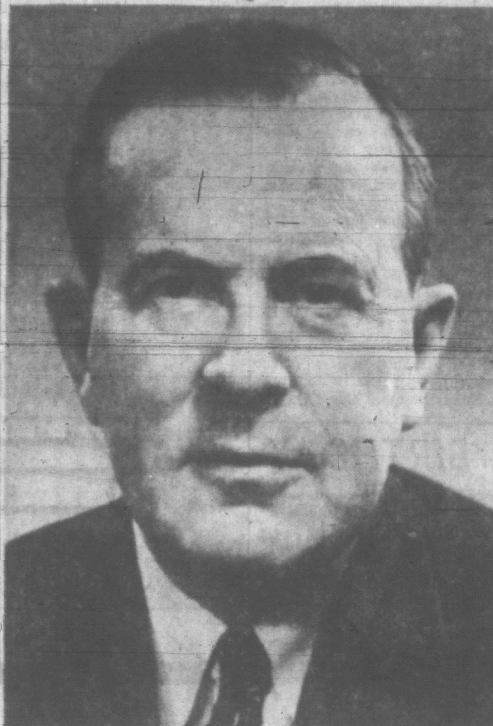

"Mae always was a tough act to follow," said Richman.

After the party was over, Richman sat down at a piano and belted out Sunny Side of the Street, a song he first introduced on Broadway.

June 18 Election Date Announced by John D.

SQUARE OFF FOR CAMPAIGN

LIBERAL LEADER PEARSON

PRIME MINISTER DIEFENBAKER

Changes Mind On Sept. Vote

By ALEX YOUNG

Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — A June 18 federal election was announced today by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker.

His long-awaited disclosure was greeted by thunderous applause of all members of the Commons.

He said he would ask Governor-General George Vanier for dissolution of Parliament Wednesday, provided a certain amount of business is passed.

If the business is not passed until Thursday then he will ask for dissolution Thursday, Mr. Diefenbaker announced.

The prime minister said he had originally planned a Sept. 12 general election.

"NO OTHER COURSE"
But he charged the opposition with "obstructing" his legislative program to the extent that he had no other course but to go to the people earlier.

The statement was greeted by Opposition jeers.

"Therefore I shall recommend to His Excellency dissolution of this House and the holding of the election on the 18th of June," Mr. Diefenbaker declared.

Opposition Leader Pearson said he is "delighted" that Mr. Diefenbaker "at long last" has put an end to the "contrived uncertainty" surrounding the election date.

HAPPY WITH CHANGE
He was delighted that the prime minister had changed his mind and moved the date forward to the earliest possible.

Mr. Pearson said Mr. Diefenbaker in effect had stated that it was impossible for a government with 203 members to get legislation through the 265-seat Commons unless the Opposition gave up its rights and duties.

He said Mr. Diefenbaker had not been able to prevent the Liberals from doing their duty as an opposition.

The country would be glad that the election date had been set but not as glad as the Liberals were. In due course the electorate would make a decision on the record of the government.

LEGISLATION NEEDED
When he arose to make the election announcement, the prime minister led up suspensefully to the election call with a detailed statement of the legislation he wanted approved first.

The statement was studied with references to Liberal delay and obstructionism.

The business to be dealt with before dissolution is legislation for appointment of an independent redistribution commission, ratification of the international wheat agreement, a Customs Act amendment, an appropriations act and passage of an interim supply measure for five months.

The prime minister said he had hoped to get through his Senate reform bill but now realized its passage through both Houses would take "a considerable amount of time."

'Satan Intervened' Says Woman

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A 41-year-old woman, one of three Roman Catholics excommunicated in a segregation feud, begged for Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel's forgiveness today but, she said, "Satan intervened and he refused."

Mrs. B. J. Galliot Jr., appeared at the archbishop's residence at mid-morning as he talked to a group of women on a prayer pilgrimage.

She strode toward the archbishop as he led the group in prayer on the expansive lawn in front of his residence and then fell to her knees.

"I told him that I knew in his heart he had nothing to do with my excommunication," she said, speaking of her expulsion from the church by the archbishop's order Monday. Political leader Leander Perez Sr. and official Jackson Ricau of the pro-segregation Citizens Council were excommunicated along with her.

"I beg you before God to look up to heaven," she said on her knees in front of the 85-year-old archbishop.

"... You know it's God's law to segregate."

She tried to get closer to the archbishop but two women restrained her. "Satan intervened and they wouldn't let me get close to him."

Mediation Accepted
DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Newspaper Publishers Association agreed today to Teamster President James Hoffa's offer to mediate issues involved in a labor dispute which has shut down the city's two daily papers since last Thursday.

IF NUCLEAR ATTACK COMES
You Have a Choice: 'Duck or Run'

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian city dwellers in a nuclear attack will have to choose for themselves whether to duck or run.

"Unlike Canadians who live outside the larger urban areas, the city dwellers have no choice — a difficult choice — evacuation or shelter," says the booklet, entitled Survival in Likely Target Areas.

Practical survival plans would vary from city to city and from person to person, making it impossible to recommend a single specific course of action suitable for everyone.

IDEAL: ALL OUT
The ideal step would be wholesale evacuation, but since the amount of warning time given to a target area could vary from none at all to two hours, this was probably impracticable.

Important factors in a decision to move or stay would be location of the home in respect to evacuation routes and the protective preparations made at home or in an alternative spot against blast and fallout.

The booklet offers four main choices:

1. Stay with an anti-blast shelter stocked with emergency supplies.

2. Leave—and have safer access to a shelter.

3. Leave—and rely upon obtaining protection and supplies from reception communities.

4. Stay with a properly stocked fallout shelter and plan to improvise against the immediate danger.

P.E.I. CAUSEWAY SET, SAYS PM

OTTAWA (UPI) — The long-mooted causeway to link Prince Edward Island with the mainland will be built, Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced today.

Mr. Diefenbaker told the Commons that studies had shown the project — talked about for almost a century — to be feasible from economic and engineering standpoints.

He did not indicate when work would start.

Bond Issue
Tuesday

(See Also Page 6)

Premier Bennett today announced a $25,000,000 public bond issue will go on sale Tuesday for the new B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

The 20-year revenue — not parity — bonds will bear interest of 5 1/2 per cent.

They will mature May 1, 1982, and not be callable before that time.

Mr. Bennett said the money is needed to refund outstanding notes—short-term borrowings—of the new authority.

This would include money borrowed by B.C. Electric since the government took it over last Aug. 1.

SINKING FUND
The premier said a sinking fund will be set up to ensure that the $25,000,000 is fully repaid by the 20-year maturity date.

Offering price of the bonds is $99.50.

They will be available at trust companies, chartered banks and investment companies in denominations of $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000 and $25,000.

Mr. Bennett is holding a briefing meeting with bankers and investment dealers at breakfast Wednesday in the Hotel Vancouver.

The premier did not say the $25,000,000 will be used specifically for the Peace River power project, but he did say "we have no financial problems" and that there will be absolutely no connection between Peace and Columbia River power financing.

Family of 7 Escapes Early Morning Blaze

Fire Starts Around Fuse Box

A man, his wife and five children, had a narrow brush with death or serious injury early this morning when driven from their Prior Street home by fire of undetermined cause.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, 2915 Prior, and Patrick, 11; Susan, 9; Jennifer, 6; Paul, 3, and Vicki, 10 months, fled their two-storey frame home in night attire at 1.10 a.m.

City firemen confined the flames to the rear of the house.

Insured

No estimate of total damage was available this morning but it's understood the loss is covered by insurance.

Firemen said the fire originated near fuse and junction boxes on the back porch.

Mr. Brown said his wife, Mary, woke him up when she saw a "red flickering in the window" and he looked out to see "flames licking around the house."

The couple roused the children and bundled them out of the house by the front door.

Went Back

"I had a bit of difficulty with this guy," said Mr. Brown, indicating Patrick. "I got him out of bed and bumped him a couple of times and he went straight back to bed again."

Two of the children were in a front bedroom, which was relatively undamaged, but the baby and two others were in the rear of the house. The window here was burned through and broken glass was lying in and around the crib.

Just Moved

A welder at Yarrows Ltd., Mr. Brown had just moved his family in three weeks before. He credits this with helping to save their lives.

He and his wife were using the side bedroom temporarily until the main front room could be readied for them.

"It's a good job we were in there," he said, "because if we had been in front we wouldn't have awakened in time."

Mr. Brown today took the day off, along with the three eldest school children, to help move some belongings into the house of Mrs. Ida M. Briggs, 2921 Prior, where they are staying.

Rent House

Mr. Brown said he hopes to rent a house while their home is being repaired.

Their problem is complicated by the arrival Sunday of Mrs. Brown's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Henry, from Southampton, England.

The Browns came to Canada six years ago from Southampton and moved to Victoria six months later.

New SPCA Act Major Aim Of B.C. Group

The B.C. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will continue to press the provincial government to revise or replace the present SPCA Act.

This was the unanimous decision of members at an annual meeting held here on the weekend.

The parent body, which established its headquarters in Victoria this month, feels the present act is inadequate to cope with present-day needs.

The meeting re-elected W.A. Leach of Victoria as president.

Other officers are Cameron Webster, first vice-president; Keith Bower of Vancouver, second vice-president; J. H. Blinko, treasurer, and David H. Beeching, executive secretary and director.

Two ships of the Canadian Hydrographic Service left this morning for their summer's work of charting B.C. coastal waters.

CGGS William J. Stewart will start her work in the northern portion of Hecate Strait, and will not return to home port until mid-October.

The smaller CGGS Marabell will operate for the first part of the summer in the Active Pass-East Point area, with a later assignment yet to be made.

... HERE ... AND THERE

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

He first visited Victoria 18 years ago—yet today he is seeing it for the first time.

This is the touching story of Lt.-Col. Ralph Reed of Bremerton, Washington. In 1944, after being blinded on war service in Europe, he came here with his newly-wedded wife. They wandered around the city and she described it to him. Today he is back in Victoria with the sight of one eye restored by a miraculous operation.

"It is wonderful," Col. Reed told me. "Now I know why my wife was so enthusiastic about all the lovely things you have here—the gardens, the trees and the stately old Empress."

Col. Reed returned to Victoria as one of 350 delegates to the 22nd annual meeting of the Northwest Public Power Association.

And as we surveyed the warm-scented blooms in the Empress Conservatory, he gave credit to the surgeon, who restored his sight—Dr. William Gifford, Omaha, Nebraska.

Dr. Hugh Keeleyside tells of the American schoolgirl who came up here to learn about the Canadian parliamentary system.

In her essay she wrote: "They have a thing called a cabinet composed of ministers. They sit in departments and have nothing to do with the kind of ministers who work in churches and believe in God."

Rebel Mowat, the demon sightseeing driver, nearly became Rebel the barber.

As a boy at South Park School, he started giving haircuts at 25 cents a time.

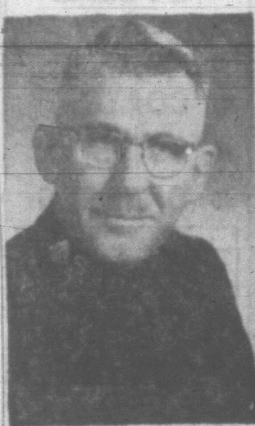

"The mothers didn't like my handiwork at all," he told a reunion of 500 students and teachers.

"They blamed the local barber, but he said he had nothing to do with it—and they traced the haircuts back to me. Boy, what a sorry day that was!"

American visitors are intrigued by the waxwork figures of King Henry VIII and his six wives holding court in the Empress lounge before being moved to the Royal London Wax Museum.

"That King Henry of yours was a darned old scoundrel," said Art Sanger from Seattle, "but he sure had good taste in women!"

William Enman, manager of the museum, claims the dresses worn by Henry's wives are worth around $750 each.

NEW SUPERINTENDENTS of Matson Lodge Home for elderly people are Brigadier and Mrs. Victor Underhill, the Salvation Army announced today. Home is scheduled to open in June and the Underhills are currently interviewing applicants for tenant and staff positions in temporary headquarters at 771 Pandora. Brig. Underhill is a missionary officer in the Honduras and Mrs. Underhill is a former administrator of Grace Hospital, Vancouver.

Small Increase Set In School Taxation

A negligible school tax increase amounting to two cents for every $1,000 worth of property assessment was announced Monday night.

Greater Victoria School Board said last year's rate would be raised .02 to 17.92 mills this year.

Previously, Education Minister Leslie Peterson said after provincial grants were paid the municipalities would have to put up 19.06 mills for school purposes, a slight drop from last year.

But the federal government will pay more than 1½ mills of this through its $253,328 grant in lieu of taxes on government property here, leaving only the net difference for remaining taxpayers.

Total municipal cost for education will be $3,994,451. Victoria ratepayers still pay the biggest share—46.52 per cent—but it is continually declining as the other areas grow.

Saanich will pay 20.59 per cent. Oak Bay will provide 15.71 per cent. Esquimalt will put up 6.05 per cent. And the unorganized territory of View Royal will cover 2.13 per cent.

Total property assessment in the district rose slightly more than 3 per cent to $222,859,484. Only Victoria showed an assessment drop—about $1,500,000 in all. Increases totaling $3,000,000 for Oak Bay, $3,700,000 for Saanich, $1,200,000 for Esquimalt and $148,000 for View Royal were reported.

SIX MILLS School District 62 (Sooke) officials indicated their tax rate this year would be about six mills.

School District 63 (Saanich)—which covers the north half of Saanich municipality and the rest of the peninsula—has computed a 17.92 mill rate for this year's operation.

Robert Settler, 3361 Veteran, was fined $250 by Magistrate William Ostler in city police court today for impaired driving.

He was charged after the truck he was driving was involved in an accident at Richmond and Haultain March 24.

He was remanded to April 27 for a report on licence suspension.

Frigate HMCS New Glasgow will carry out firing practice in Juan de Fuca Strait this Thursday and Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

From 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. each day. The ship is on post-refit work-ups.

Wednesday Meetings Victoria Real Estate Board: Empress Ballroom. Noon. Speaker: Anthony Roberts on "Plans for Victoria."

Aldermen Sound Off on Anti-Noise Bylaw

Aldermen this morning grow somewhat noisy about the procedure for obtaining an anti-noise bylaw.

City solicitor T. P. O'Grady told public works committee that council had power to regulate—set the hours—but not to prohibit offensive noises.

He said each type of noise

generally considered a nuisance would have to be specified in the bylaw, "so that, for instance, power lawn-mowers could not be used Sunday mornings until after 11."

He suggested other types of noise that could be controlled would be power tools, jackhammers and diesel trucks.

At this point, aldermen sent up the decibel rating in the committee room.

Ald. M. H. Mooney said the city should draw up a list of objectionable noises and then incorporate them in a bylaw.

"No, no, no," remonstrated Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow. "Let's just find out what kinds of complaints we've had and list those types only."

"There's no point in legislating more than we need; otherwise we'll make this bylaw a joke."

The two aldermen argued the point several minutes before committee voted to find out what anti-noise ordinances other municipalities have and what complaints have been received at City Hall.

'CHAIN TELEPHONE' SYSTEM CALLS BACK FRIGATE CREW

Two RCN Pacific Command frigates, HMC Ships Antigonish and Beacon Hill, left Esquimalt Harbor this morning on an operational exercise following a surprise recall for the Antigonish.

Crew members who were ashore were called back to their ship through the "chain telephone" system. Area and duration of the exercise has not been announced.

WIRED FOR SOUND

Boy, 13, Wins Science Fair First Prize

A 13-year-old Victoria boy who wants to be a scientist has won first prize in the junior section of the B.C. Youth Science Fair in Vancouver.

Angus Arrol, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Arrol, 1955 Bouchier, will receive a complete set of the Encyclopedia of "Unique Method in Sound transmission."

His entry in the fair, which was opened Friday by Education Minister Leslie Peterson, was a transmitter which ran current into a bicycle wheel which had been wound with wire.

This, he said today, produces a "field" which transmits through the air to a similar wheel which receives the field and converts it back into sound which is able to be picked up by earphones.

CAN BE HEARD

"It works in the same way as a radio transmitter," said the grade nine Oak Bay Junior High School student, "but the frequency is low enough so you can hear it."

Science teacher Hal Chalmers said the school Science Club was formed only this year with himself as sponsor. "The basic scientific knowledge of this boy is amazing," he said. "He's a thinker and he will go places."

11 Engineers To Receive Certificates

Certificates will be presented to 11 Victorians who registered recently as professional engineers at a meeting of the Victoria branch of the Association of Professional Engineers of B.C. at Holyrood Place, 2315 McBride, on Wednesday, April 25 at 5:15 p.m.

A panel discussion on confederation of engineering groups in Canada will follow dinner. Panelists will be A. B. Sanderson, president of the association, and professor W. O. Richmond of UBC.

Those receiving certificates are, D. J. Kermode, N. G. Arnason, W. E. Rolis, W. Morley, J. Hovdansk, J. Bertok, R. D. Bennett, W. White, R. J. Ward, J. Loukotsky and E. Livingston.

Dockyard Open To Sailors' Wives

Relatives of officers and men of three RCN Pacific Command destroyers returning to HMC Dockyard Thursday after a three-and-one-half month cruise will be permitted to meet the ships, a navy spokesman said today.

HMC Ships Assiniboine, Otawa, and Margaree will dock at A Jetty at 10 a.m.

A limited number of parking spaces are available inside the dockyard gates.

Police Appeal for Witnesses To April 6 Douglas Collision

Death in hospital early today of 77-year-old Allan Pynn, 3960 Cedar Hill Cross Road, raises the number of traffic fatalities in Greater Victoria this year to four. Mr. Pynn was in critical condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital since he was in collision with a car as he crossed North Douglas Street April 6.

An inquest likely will be held but no date had been set up to press time.

Insp. Brooke Douglass of the city police traffic department today appealed through the Times for witnesses to the accident.

The collision occurred as he crossed Douglas from west to east about 100 feet north of the intersection of Summit at 9:50 p.m. The car was traveling in a southerly direction.

City police said point of impact was in the centre of the road, which was dry at the time. The elderly man was wearing dark clothing, they said.

Police identified the car

Police Hunt Knife-Waving Store Robber

City police today are searching for two men who held up the wife of a city store owner at knife-point Monday night and escaped with about $100 in cash.

The robbery occurred at 8:35 p.m. at the Quadra Market, 1725 Quadra, where Mrs. Denise Lowe was alone washing dishes. Her husband was in the washroom.

Mrs. Lowe had her back to the door. She heard it open but didn't pay any attention to it until she saw a man come around the corner of the counter with a long knife in his hand.

She described it as "like a butcher's knife."

CLOTH OVER FACE The man had a brownish-red cloth over the lower part of his face and asked her: "Where is your husband?"

"He's not here," Mrs. Lowe replied.

The man then grabbed her and held the knife at the rear of the shop. She just had time to notice another man at the main counter.

BADLY SHAKEN

She stayed—until the men left. Mrs. Lowe called her husband, Quon Lowe and he summoned city police.

"I didn't hear anything," Mr. Lowe said today.

He said his wife was badly shaken by the incident but had now recovered.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

Leonie Marie Guadet, 1319 Franklin, $10 for changing lanes when unsafe.

George B. Graham, 735 Queens, $10 for failing to notify change of address.

Frank Tingle, 3171 Metcoun, $10 for no licence plates.

Suffocation Caused Death Of Pedestrian

A six-man coroner's jury today ruled as accidental Greater Victoria's third traffic fatality of 1962.

Exonerated was Mabel Harvey, 1749 Newton, driver of the car in the collision Thursday evening which took the life of pedestrian Ethel Crossley, 82, of 3225 Alder.

Pathologist Dr. Ross McNeely, Royal Jubilee Hospital, described the cause of death as suffocation from upheaval of food from the stomach.

"I can't say she would have survived from her injuries, but she would not have died had she not received them," Dr. McNeely said.

LIGHT ASKED The jury asked that a flashing red and amber light be placed at the corner of Richmond and Bay, scene of the accident.

Witnesses to the accident—which occurred just after dusk at 7:35 p.m.—agreed Mrs. Crossley was a few feet south of the crosswalk when she was hit.

There was no evidence to believe Mrs. Harvey was driving at a greater speed than the 30 mile per hour limit.

C. Norton Welch, a witness, described the lighting at the intersection as a hindrance, not an aid, to drivers and pedestrians.

"There was a bad glare at the time," he said.

Mrs. Crossley ended up 83 feet from the crosswalk after the collision.

She suffered a broken left leg, a broken right arm, and multiple bruises and abrasions, but apparently remained conscious.

She died early Friday morning.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Could you please answer a question for my little boy? How many walled cities are there in North America? J.P. Quebec, Canada.

Q. In a string quartet how many standard types of instruments are there? H.G.H. A. There are three: violin, Viola and a 'cello.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

FINAL BULLETINS

56 Candidates Named for B.C. Seats

VANCOUVER (CP)—Political organization in British Columbia for the forthcoming federal election already is well on the way with 56 candidates in the field for the province's 22 federal seats. Ninety candidates or more are expected to be in the running.

The New Democratic Party leads the field so far with 19 candidates nominated. The Liberals have nominated 15; the Progressive Conservatives 12; Social Credit seven and Communists three.

Gangster Tactics Charged to Union

CALGARY (CP)—Gangster tactics are being used to force employees of a Calgary trucking firm to join the International Teamsters' Union, Bill Panko of Calgary, company manager, said today.

Michael Patrick, 38, of Calgary, an employee of the firm, said a Teamsters' Union organizer "threatened to run my truck over a cliff if I didn't join up. I joined." The men involved were 36 employees of Tiger Transfer Limited.

Freedomite Guilty in Explosives Case

NELSON (CP)—An Assize Court jury took just two minutes today to find Sons of Freedom Doukhobor James J. Stoochnoff guilty of unlawful possession of explosives.

Police found detonating caps at his Crescent Valley home, 15 miles south of here, where he said he kept them in case anyone "wanted to do a job." Stoochnoff will be sentenced later.

BY ARMS CONFERENCE

U.S., Russian Draft Adopted

GENEVA (Reuters)—The 17-nation disarmament conference today adopted virtually all of a Russo-American draft preamble for a treaty on general and complete disarmament.

Talks Satisfy Rusk

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. State Secretary Rusk was reported to be moderately satisfied today after his talk on Berlin with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin that was conducted in English without interpreters.

It also was understood that Rusk will brief U.S. allies on his conversation with Dobrynin Monday.

This policy of consulting with U.S. allies on any Berlin move was almost wrecked during the weekend by the news leak from Bonn about U.S. proposals for a new round of Berlin discussions.

Officials here said the leak seriously jeopardized the Rusk-Dobrynin talks and shook U.S. confidence in the West Germans.

Both Rusk and Dobrynin described Monday's session as "fruitful and businesslike" and officials believe the talks will be resumed shortly, probably later this month.

Officials said Rusk and Dobrynin tentatively have agreed to hold the fourth round of exploratory talks in Washington. Rusk is reported to feel that a fresh start with a new participant on the Soviet side and in a different locale might create a more favorable atmosphere to break the deadlock over Berlin.

In another development, the United States and Britain asked questions about the new nuclear weapons test-ban plan advanced Monday by the neutral delegations.

The draft acted on today was prepared by Arthur Dean and Valerian Zorin, the American and Soviet conference vice-chairmen, respectively, during a series of private meetings.

All of the draft except one paragraph and a few words elsewhere in the preamble were adopted.

Diplomatic observers said this was the first time in the history of postwar East-West negotiations that such an important document had been adopted virtually in full.

PLAN MORE TALKS

Dean and Zorin are to have further discussions on the draft preamble.

The closed-door conference decided provisionally to have a four-day Easter recess—from Thursday night until Tuesday morning.

During the discussion Zorin was reported to have said "Easter has ill tidings for us and we should bear that in mind." The Soviet delegate did not expand on this but said later that "final decision on a recess should be postponed for grave matters confront us."

The next conference session is Wednesday.

On the test ban proposal of the eight neutral countries here, Dean advanced 13 questions that he said were designed to seek clarification on "basic matters which go to the heart of the control system which is contemplated."

LIBERAL LEADER PEARSON

PRIME MINISTER DIEFENBAKER

Britain in ECM Price for Union

PARIS (AP)—Belgium and Holland today demanded Britain's entry into the European Common Market as the price for the political integration of Western Europe, French sources said.

In a meeting of the six Common Market's foreign ministers, both Holland's Joseph Luns and Belgium's Paul-Henri Spaak served notice that they would not sign a treaty for a European political union until the six nations and Britain have agreed on British membership in the economic community.

Spaak, according to one source, even brushed aside some of the pending issues in the proposed treaty for political union and said he would not sign such a treaty—even if it conformed completely to the Belgian views—as long as Britain was outside the Common Market.

The French-backed Fouchet plan—named after a French diplomat—provides for a governing council of prime ministers but two smaller members of the "six." The Netherlands and Belgium, are understood to want a change in a controversial revision clause of a draft treaty on the subject.

The Dutch and Belgians are asking that the clause include provisions for a three-year trial period election of a West European parliament by universal suffrage and the suppression of the veto right in European institutions.

The differences represent a clash between the "Europe of the fatherlands" advocated by France and the super-national concept. West Germany was pictured as anxious to avoid a head-on clash between the French and the English and Dutch.

EXPLOSION RIPS PLANT INJURING 25 WORKERS

BRANDENBURG, Ky. (AP)—A tremendous explosion ripped through several buildings and injured more than 25 employees at the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation plant early today.

Damage was estimated in the millions of dollars. Several fires broke out after the blast occurred.

Ten were taken to hospital at Elizabethtown, 30 miles south of the plant site. Doctors said none was believed severely hurt.

"How any of them got out alive, I'll never know," a company official said of the 50 men in the plant at the time of the explosion.

'Satan Intervened,' Declares Woman

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A 41-year-old woman, one of three Roman Catholics excommunicated in a segregation feud, begged for Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel's forgiveness today but, she said, "Satan intervened and he refused."

Mrs. B. J. Gallot Jr., appeared at the archbishop's residence at mid-morning as he talked to a group of women on a prayer pilgrimage.

She strode toward the archbishop as he led the group in prayer on the expansive lawn in front of his residence and then fell to her knees.

"I told him that I knew in his heart he had nothing to do with my excommunication," she said, speaking of her expulsion from the church by the archbishop's order Monday. Political leader Leander Perez Sr. and official Jackson Ricau of the pro-segregation Citizens Council were excommunicated along with her.

"I beg you before God to look up to heaven," she said on her knees in front of the 85-year-old archbishop. "... You know it's God's law to segregate."

She tried to get closer to the archbishop but two women restrained her—"Satan, intervened and they wouldn't let me get close to him."

IF NUCLEAR ATTACK COMES

You Have a Choice: 'Duck or Run'

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian city dwellers in a nuclear attack will have to choose for themselves whether to duck or run.

This is the conclusion drawn by the Emergency Measures Organization in its fifth Blueprint for Survival booklet issued today to assist Canadians who live in major cities which might be target areas.

St. John's, Nfld., Halifax, Saint John, N.B., Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Niagara Falls, Hamilton, London, Windsor, Ont., Winnipeg, Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver and Victoria are designated "the more likely" target areas.

"Unlike Canadians who live outside the larger urban areas, the city dweller is faced with a difficult choice—evacuation or shelter," says the booklet, entitled Survival in Likely Target Areas.

Practical survival plans would vary from city to city and from person to person, making it impossible to recommend a single specific course of action suitable for everyone.

IDEAL: ALL OUT

The ideal step would be wholesale evacuation, but since the amount of warning time given to a target area could vary from none at all to two hours, this was probably impracticable.

Important factors in a decision to move or stay would be location of the home in respect to evacuation routes and the protective preparations made at home or in an alternative spot against blast and fallout.

The booklet offers four main choices:

1. Stay with an anti-blast shelter stocked with emergency supplies.
2. Leave—and have safe accommodation arranged elsewhere.
3. Leave—and rely upon obtaining protection and supplies from reception communities.
4. Stay with a properly stocked fallout shelter and plan to improvise against the immediate danger from the explosion.

House Applauds Announcement By Diefenbaker

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—A June 18 federal election was announced today by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker.

His long-awaited disclosure was greeted by thunderous applause of all members of the Commons.

He said he would ask Governor-General George Vanier for dissolution of Parliament Wednesday, provided a certain amount of business is passed.

If the business is not passed until Thursday then he will ask for dissolution Thursday, Mr. Diefenbaker announced.

The prime minister said he had originally planned a Sept. 12 general election.

But he charged the opposition with "obstructing" his legislative program to the extent that he had no other course but to go to the people earlier.

The statement was greeted by Opposition jeers.

"Therefore I shall recommend to His Excellency dissolution of this House and the holding of the election on the 18th of June," Mr. Diefenbaker declared.

Opposition Leader Pearson said he is "delighted" that Mr. Diefenbaker "at long last" has put an end to the "contrived uncertainty" surrounding the election date.

HAPPY WITH CHANGE

He was delighted that the prime minister had changed his mind and moved the date forward to the earliest possible.

Mr. Pearson said Mr. Diefenbaker in effect had stated that it was impossible for a government with 203 members to get legislation through the 265-seat Commons unless the Opposition gave up its rights and duties.

He said Mr. Diefenbaker had not been able to prevent the Liberals from doing their duty as an opposition.

The country would be glad that the election date had been set but not as glad as the Liberals were. In due course the electorate would make a decision on the record of the government.

LEGISLATION NEEDED

When he arose to make the election announcement, the prime minister led up suspensefully to the election call with a detailed statement of the legislation he wanted approved first.

The statement was studded with references to Liberal delay and obstructionism.

The business to be dealt with before dissolution is legislation for appointment of an independent redistribution commission, ratification of the international wheat agreement, a Customs Act amendment, an appropriations act and passage

Premier Bennett today announced a $25,000,000 public bond issue will go on sale Tuesday for the new B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

The 20-year revenue—not parity—bonds will bear interest of 5 1/2 per cent.

They will mature May 1, 1982, and not be callable before that time.

Mr. Bennett said the money is needed to refund outstanding notes—short-term borrowings—of the new authority.

This would include money borrowed by B.C. Electric since the government took it over last Aug. 1.

SINKING FUND

The premier said a sinking fund will be set up to ensure that the $25,000,000 is fully repaid by the 20-year maturity date.

Offering price of the bonds is $99.50.

They will be available at trust companies, chartered banks and investment companies in denominations of $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000 and $25,000.

Mr. Bennett is holding a briefing meeting with bankers and investment dealers at breakfast Wednesday in the Hotel Vancouver.

The premier did not say the $25,000,000 will be used specifically for the Peace River power project, but he did say "we have no financial problems" and that there will be absolutely no connection between Peace and Columbia River power financing.

ONE WOMAN, 500 MEN —SHE 'LIKED THE ODDS'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Mae West made a surprise visit Monday night to a Friar's Club stag testimonial and wiggled off with the show.

She was the only woman among 500 men, including some of the top comics and songwriters, who gathered to pay tribute to Harry Richman, a show business great.

Near the end of the show, Mae, with her famous strut, ambled onto the platform and sexily glanced over the house.

"I like the odds," she quipped. "Wall to wall men."

Mae recalled that Richman got his start in show business as her piano player in 1922.

"I don't remember, Harry, if I discovered you or you discovered me, but I do remember you had a great touch."

Inquiry Launched On Hospital Work

A committee representing Vancouver Island building trades unions is investigating conditions at Royal Jubilee Hospital extension project.

"They want to know why more than 30 tradesmen, mostly carpenters, have been laid off, fired or quit since the $2,600,000 wing was started in January.

"We are not entirely happy with the way Burns and Dutton (Concrete and Construction Co.) have been handling the job," said Jack Driscoll, president of Vancouver Island Building Trades Council.

He and two other building trades representatives are handling enquiries and will report to Victoria Labor Council.

Burns and Dutton, the prime contractor, ran into trouble with organized labor right from the start when it was discovered a non-union sub-contractor, with non-local men was doing blasting and foundation preparation work, contrary to terms of the master agreement.

UNREST ON JOB

There has been unrest on the job ever since, although the original difficulty has been patched up.

Mr. Driscoll, who has not yet finished investigating, said it appears the company has failed to live up to the understanding reached three months ago.

There are no complaints regarding the agreement, said James Moffat, carpenter's union representative.

Some of the men who have left the job have complained of pressure being put on by the bosses, but others say there was none, the carpenter agent said.

"So we have conflicting reports from our own members," he said.

Three weeks ago he had a meeting with a company spokesman who said he would do some checking. Mr. Moffat

Elaine Up For Sale

The venerable coast steamer Princess Elaine, last of the CPR's lone line of three stackers, is officially up for sale.

The company announced Tuesday bids would be considered through the firm of Tatham, Bromage Co. Ltd., Bishopgate, London, acting for Maple Shipping Co., London.

The 35-year-old ship has been tied up at the CPR Belleville Street docks since September, 1960, when she was taken off the Nanaimo-Vancouver run.

Princess Elaine has served on many of the coast services, including the triangle run and the Vancouver-Gulf Islands-Powell River service.

Dief's Stand Pleases JFK

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Kennedy today expressed gratification with a statement made by Prime Minister Diefenbaker opposing an indefinite, unpoliced moratorium on nuclear testing.

Arnold Heene, who retires as Canadian ambassador next week, said the president referred to the prime minister's statement during a 20-minute farewell meeting at the White House.

"The president said the statement was very helpful," Heene reported in an interview later.

Carpenter Split Only Temporary

NANAIMO — Split between the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners and the Canadian Labor Council will be a temporary one, according to B.C. CCF-New Democratic Leader Robert Strachan.

Mr. Strachan said he feels the carpenters will continue to support the NDP as they have in the past.

"This is only an internal matter—a dispute over jurisdiction," he said.

DUNCAN — Livestock breeders on Vancouver Island are feeling the effect of not having a government-inspected slaughterhouse on the island, according to A. W. T. Evans, director of the Cowichan Agricultural Society.

He told a meeting here that since tainted meat was discovered on the Toronto market, island chain stores have been buying federally-inspected meat handled by Vancouver Island packers.

In the past, the stores acquired their meat from local farmers.

He gave one example of the effect of the change.

In order to sell to local chain stores, he said, farmers have to ship their lambs for the Easter market to Vancouver at a loss up to 20 cents a pound.

said he is still awaiting a reply.

There are about 30 carpenters and 40 laborers on the project, plus some sub-trades like plumbers and electricians who are not involved in the complaints.

All they want is "satisfaction on the job," Mr. Moffat said.

vital problems connected with the spacing of international control posts, on-site international inspection and the renunciation of any future treaty banning nuclear tests in the event one of its signers refused to co-operate.

While the proposed commission would process all data received from an agreed system of observation points, the plan did not advocate the kind of automatic, on-site inspection which the West has been seeking and which Russia rejects.

Dean said today that the new proposals alluded to the establishment of a system for control "on a purely scientific non-political basis." The United States could not agree more with this, he said.

SPRING REPLACES FIERCE BLIZZARD

HALIFAX (CP) — Spring-like weather returned to the Maritimes today after a blinding blizzard dumped a foot of snow over a wide area Monday.

The Isthmus of Chignecto, a narrow neck of low-lying land linking Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, appeared to be hardest hit. Winds of 60 miles an hour and the snow made highways impassable and knocked out power and telephone lines.

During the worst of the storm, road, rail and air traffic was disrupted.

The storm particularly caught Prince Edward Island with its guard down. Most island snow removal gear had been dismantled and crews hustled to get gear back in shape to clear drifts that in places had blown up to six feet high.

PUBLICITY CHIEF:

'Treasure Island' Paying Dividends

Publicity bureau director William Hawkins Monday showed himself an unashamed "Treasure Island" man.

Answering criticism that the city's traditional tourist slogan of "Follow the Birds to Victoria" had been downgraded, he said the new slogan advertising all of Vancouver Island as "Canada's Treasure Island" had paid off.

He said the number of tourists had more than tripled since the new slogan was adopted, rising from 301,421 in 1959 to 950,000 last year.

"The slogan, 'Follow the Birds' is still being used but in the final analysis, with the present provincial government set-up for dollar matching grants, this bureau was named the agency by the provincial government to handle the promotion for all the island.

"Unless we do advertise all the island we are not eligible for the matching grant, which this year will amount to some $30,000.

"This combined financial effort has permitted us, for the first time, to develop proper advertising programs in such important media as Holiday, Sunset, Westways and other magazines, which has been mainly responsible for drawing attention to Canada's Treasure Island and thereby increasing our tourist business."
